Makin' Music Hosts, Hostesses Chosen

Makin' Music hosts and hostesses have been selected for the 1985 performance. Hosts are Steve Weaver and Todd Tunnell; Sherry Smith and Peggy Weaver will serve as hostesses. Alternate host and hostess are Steve Hammond and Carolee Owens. The hosts and hostesses were selected after Saturday's auditions.

Much effort and prayer went into the tryouts for the positions. When asked how he prepared for his audition, Steve Weaver said, "I trimmed my moustache and took a shower."

Undoubtedly, students who tried out for host and hostess slots practiced the same songs over and over again, hoping to hit each note perfectly and to make the right expressions at the right time. "I prepared two songs, and I had to prepare both mentally and musically," said Sherry Smith.

Todd Tunnell said his preparation involved the three P's . . . practice, prayer and perspiration.

When the hosts and hostesses were notified that they had presented a winning audition, each responded similarly by calling loved ones and feeling genuine excitement, but there was a little more tension in the Weaver household. Steve and Peggy, who are husband and wife, were not notified at the same time. "I was very excited, but I didn't know how to act (when Terri Norton called with the news) because I didn't know whether Steve made it," Peggy said.

When Norton called, she gave the news to Peggy only. "When Terri hung up, Peggy and I both thought I hadn't made it," Steve said. "Then Terri called back and told me I had made it. My response? I told Terri that I thought it was a dirty trick!" Steve added.

Each host and hostess will share in various responsibilities for presenting Makin' Music. They will entertain between social clubs' performances and will introduce groups' performances. Perhaps most important to these hosts and hostesses is their realization of how professional and special a program they want to present to the audience.

"I want to entertain in a professional way to make the audience glad they came," Tunnell said.

"My responsibilities will be to maintain a Christian attitude and example always; to perform to the best of my ability; and to make others enjoy the show," Peggy said.

"We four represent all of the other students who participate in MM," Steve Weaver said. "I hope we can display the proper attitude."

Makin' Music has gained a lot of attention since its inception. The excitement of this two-day event, which will be held during Spring Weekend in April, has prompted several high school and transfer students to come to Freed-Hardeman. Steve Weaver is one example of a student who had made other plans for college and changed his mind after seeing Makin' Music in 1980.

"Makin' Music is the reason I came to this school," Steve said. "I had always intended on going to Vanderbilt; however, after coming to Makin' Music in April of 1980, I knew Freed-Hardeman was my school."

These hosts and hostesses were asked, "Why is Makin' Music special to you?" They agreed that Makin' Music gets everyone involved and creates a musical program which is shared by all who attend.

Despite all of the work and late hours these students will have to endure, perhaps Todd Tunnell offered the logical reason for being a part of Makin' Music: "Makin' Music is a blast! It's special because of its warm atmosphere of exciting, colorful musical explosion."

Steve Hammond and Carolee Owens are host and hostess alternates for Makin' Music 1985.

Thank a Professor

By Bobby McVey

As you must already know, today has been designated as "Thank a Professor Day" on this campus. The Student-Alumni Association is to be commended for its efforts to remember our teachers on this day of recognition. So, S-AA, I commend you.

But most of the commendation must go to our professors, our administration, our staff and anybody else who makes higher education at Freed-Hardeman College possible. Without your commitment and sacrifice, F-HC could not give us a quality education, a Christian environment and a beautiful campus to enjoy.

In reality, there would probably be no F-HC if our faculty was not willing to work for less pay and benefits than they could receive in public institutions. In order to pay the teachers what they deserve our tuition would be too high for us to afford.

Why are these teachers here if they could make more money at other locations? I think the keys are the working conditions. They are working for Christians; teaching Christian students; and living in a Christian atmosphere.

They sacrifice because of us, and many of us come here because of them. It is a glorious cycle that makes attending F-HC more than worthwhile, and teaching at F-HC worth the sacrifices.

To the editor:

The key to perceiving whether an editorial opinion is presented as what it is (an opinion) rests in the language of that editorial. If the editor makes it clear that he is presenting an opinion, there is no problem. However, when that opinion is presented as the truth, conflict is inevitable.

When one looks for controversy and criticism underneath every stone and presents what he perceives to be fact as the truth, is he doing a constructive job? It is easy to eloquently bemoan deficiencies in any organization, but the point to be made is how one should make those opinions known. Should one publically print (or present) them as the truth, and thereby foster anger, dissent and division, or should one present them by using the proper method for expressing opinions (SGA) if he believes them to be the truth?

As students at Freed-Hardeman College, we should do all that we can to promote unity among the students and administration; keep opinions restricted to what they are; and always strive to make this college better, both aesthetically and academically. In my opinion, this is how we can grow and gain respect from all people.

Sincerely,
David Hester

To the Editor:

I never would have believed I would be writing a letter like this—especially one on so unpleasant a subject.

Unfortunately there is at this time on our campus an aggressive campaign to involve students in something called the Populist Party. While I believe those involved to be idealistic and sincere, I believe they do not realize the sinister undertones of this ideology.

This movement often involves a newspaper called the Spotlight. Spotlight is the publication of a radical, racist, anti-Semitic organization called the Liberty Lobby. This paper has in the past expressed support for the KKK and for the National Socialist Party. Liberty Lobby "fights communism" by selling books on racial IQ differences and on the "myth of the Holocaust." They are vociferous supporters of Yasir Arafat and the PLO, and their idea of a great world leader is Muammar Qaddafi. They have even taken groups to meet Qaddafi.

Their paper is not a respectable paper. It does not belong on our campus. Its acceptance will bring our student body into disrepute. Its philosophy is incompatible with Christianity.

I support the right of everyone to his own opinion. This is mine. Our students should realize what they are getting into.

Sincerely,
Roy Neal Grissom

Where Your Treasure Is

By Dowell Flatt

Chairman, F-HC Bible Department

The Master instructed us to lay up "treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal." He further declared, "For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matthew 6:20-21).

One of the great joys in Christian education is the opportunity to work with young people who have their values in the proper place. The Evangelism Forum at Freed-Hardeman College is composed of faculty, staff and students who are interested in world evangelism. In addition to meeting every two weeks, the Evangelism Forum conducts a workshop each semester.

An interesting observation was made at a recent workshop held five miles from campus at Pinson Mounds. Although one can find a number of highly priced cars on the campus, none was seen at the workshop. The typical car was a 1973 Datsun; the average age was 12 years. The newest car was a 1983 model (owned by a faculty member); the most expensive was a 1946 Plymouth.

Some of these students will never own a new car. They may never do several other things in this life which are highly regarded by many. Yet, as they help to carry the saving gospel to a lost world, they will do something eternally important one million years from now (John 1:29, Acts 8:4, Matthew 25:46).

Where is your treasure? Both the Lord and you know the answer. Both of you also know that "where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Honeywell Announces Competition

Honeywell Inc. has announced its third annual Futurist Awards Competition. The contest asks college students to look into the future and write essays about technological advancements they foresee by the year 2009.

Julie Kirshner and Allen Gates, 1983 contest winners, were among 10 winners who received $2,000 and a summer internship at Honeywell. Each has since been employed by Honeywell.

The number of winning entries for this year has been increased from 10 to 30. The 10 first-place essays will earn each winner $2,000 and an opportunity to work for Honeywell next summer. Ten second-place winners will receive $250, and 10 honorable mention winners will receive $100.

The contest is open to all full-time undergraduate and graduate students at any accredited college in the United States. Students are asked to look ahead 25 years and predict developments in two of the following technological areas: electronic communications, energy, aerospace, marine systems, biomedical technology or computers. A third essay must address the social impact of technological progress. Each essay is limited to 500 words.

Completed essays must be postmarked no later than Dec. 31, 1984. Winners will be notified by Feb. 1, 1985, and will be flown to Minneapolis for awards ceremonies later that month.

Essays will be judged on the basis of feasibility, clarity, creativity and legibility.

For more detailed information on registration, write Futurist Rules, P.O. Box 2009, 600 South County Road 18, Minneapolis, MN 55426, or call 1-800-328-5111, ext. 1523.

Scientist to Present Seminars on Creation

By Bam Lyons

Dr. Bert Thompson, professor of Bible and Science at Alabama Christian School of Religion, will visit the Freed-Hardeman College Campus next week to present a series of seminars on the topic, creation versus evolution.

The lectures will discuss such questions as does God exist; is the Bible the inspired word of God; and what are the scientific evidences for God's existence?

Thompson received a Ph.D. degree in food microbiology from Texas A&M. He was elected as an "American Man of Science" in 1978 and was selected for inclusion in the listing of "American Youth in Achievement" in 1979. In 1979 Thompson was included in "Personalities of the South" and was listed in the "International Who's Who" in 1980.

Thompson will use several visual aids in seminars to make his discussions more meaningful and interesting. The lessons are varied in content and style. The seminars will provide more than 10 hours of lessons, studies and discussions on vital issues and will be presented in understandable terms.

The sessions will be held Monday through Wednesday evenings. Monday's and Tuesday's sessions will begin at 8 p.m.; and Wednesday's seminar will start at 9 p.m. Sessions will take place in Milan-Sitka's auditorium. Thompson will speak during Chapel Monday through Wednesday.

These seminars are free to the public. Literature dealing with each issue will be made available to those who attend the seminars free of charge.

Ham Radio Links F-HC with Mission Field

By Christie Chaney

Freed-Hardeman College students will have the opportunity to talk to missionaries in the mission fields all around the world during the fall semester. This opportunity comes via a ham radio station now operational in the missions office in the Bible-Communications-World-Evangelism Building.

Tom Childress, minister of the Church of Christ in Alamo, Ray Hawk, minister of the Campbell Street Church of Christ in Jackson, and Max Patterson, minister at the White Street Church of Christ in Henderson, volunteered their time and energy to assemble and set up the equipment. Sam Hester, F-HC Bible teacher, is using his call sign, KB4JDI, to operate the station, which has already been used to talk to missionaries in Brazil. Hester will be in charge of the station, which is made up of a Yaesu radio, a Heath kit amplifier and a rotary beam antenna with inverted V's.

Patterson had been training students to use this equipment through non-credit courses for the past four years. He said he sees the station as a wonderful teaching and learning experience. He hopes to not only use it to talk first-hand to missionaries, but also plans to use the radio station to aid foreign language students by letting them hear native speakers. Dowell Flatt, Bible Department chairman, said he hopes to use the tool in classes and in religious organization activities.

Maybe the most enjoyable task of the station will be in talking to "Freed-Hardeman missionaries" in the field today. Students here at the college can relate to missionaries the exciting, uplifting feeling which comes from getting a call from home!

Civitan's Install Officers

Officers for the 1984-85 Civitan year were installed at the annual meeting of the Henderson Civitan Club held Sept. 24, at Big John Pusser's Restaurant in Henderson. Retiring president Mrs. Anne B. Bright presided over the meeting. C.B. Bright, former club president and lieutenant governor, installed new officers.

Taking office are Mrs. LaVonne B. Scott, president; Mrs. Reba T. Thomas, vice president; Mrs. Doris B. Maness, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. J.D. Thomas, recording secretary. The club's board of directors will consist of its officers, Mr. and Mrs. Bright, Wendell Bloomingburg and Andy Maness.

Mrs. Anne Bright, assistant professor of psychology at Jackson State Community College, recounted some of the club's accomplishments during the 1983-84 year such as retiring the indebtedness on the Citizenship Building used as a meeting place by Boy and Girl Scout troops.

The club's meeting schedule is 5:30-6:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of the month. Regular meetings will be held at Big John Pusser's Restaurant. The first board meeting of the 1984-85 year was held Oct. 5.

Happy Halloween!

If you see any spooks in this house on Halloween, you'd better run and run fast! (Editor's Note: We could not resist!) The haunted house, located across the street from the B-C-WE Building, was co-operated as a fundraising event by the senior class and the Student-Alumni Association in previous years. There will be no House of Horror here this year.

Grant to Insure Educational Standards

Freed-Hardeman College is one of 20 small colleges nationwide to be awarded a grant by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The grant received by the Department of Education will be used to better implement a plan for meeting a new standard of accreditation set by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. The new standard says that all teachers must receive training in special education. F-HC is currently a member of NCATE and must meet this new standard in order to remain a member.

The Department of Education was selected for this grant on the basis of a proposal submitted by Rebecca Teague, lecturer in communication and education, and Dr. Gerald Hovater, chairman of the Department of Education. According to Hovater, the department feels fortunate to have had the first proposal approved. Dr. Hovater wrote the proposal and Mrs. Teague researched and Supervision and evaluation by a professional consultant, supplies and materials, and travel for the resource persons will also be funded.

Teague will attend the national conference for all project directors October 24-26 in Washington, D.C. The conference will have a variety of workshops dealing with such topics as: Roles and Responsibilities of Grant Recipients, Microcomputers and Special Needs Students, and the Preparation of Regular Educators for Education of the Handicapped.

planned the format for the project.

The grant will fund a 12-hour workshop consisting of six individual sessions of two hours each during the first semester of 1984-85. The workshop is designed to prepare the faculty to teach their students the needs of exceptional children in the regular classroom.

A special education expert will serve as the consultant and workshop director.

October is Computer Learning Month

October has been designated "Computer Learning Month" by the U.S. Congress. Because computer-based technologies play a larger role in the social and economic growth of the United States, Congress accepted the resolution to declare October 1984 as Computer Learning Month.

This resolution seeks to increase Americans' knowledge and use of computer technologies to maintain U.S. leadership in the high technology field. During the month of October, Americans should be encouraged to learn computer skills or to at least gain an understanding of how important the use of computer technologies is to American society.

Members Needed For Literary Club

Students who are interested in being a part of a literary club at Freed-Hardeman should go by Mrs. Beatrice Angelo's office (B-C-WE 106B) and sign a registration sheet. Students who have an interest in poetry, enjoy reading poetry, and those who write poetic verse are encouraged to become involved in this literary club. If you'd like to meet with people who enjoy poetry, come by and sign the registration sheet on her office door. The first meeting will take place soon, so don't delay.

Freed-Hardeman College is fortunate to have many personal computers available for student, faculty and staff use. The Apple Bin in the B-C-WE Building is open daily and allows those who are familiar or unfamiliar with the use of computers to quickly learn how to operate computer programs in a variety of disciplines. Qualified assistants who can help teach how to use the Apple computers are available during the Apple Bin's periods for general use.

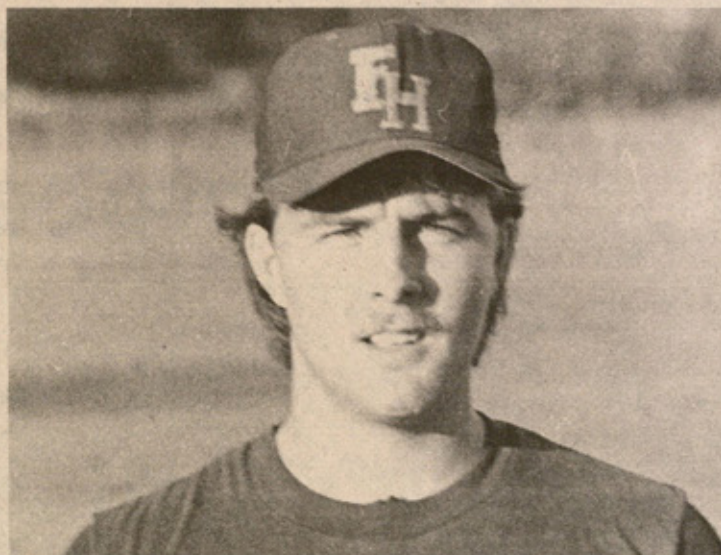

Management Society Receives Commendation

The Freed-Hardeman College chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management was recently commended by Moustafa H. Abdelsamad, international president of SAM, for its commitment to excellence in serving future management professionals.

Freed-Hardeman is the home of one of more than 150 campus chapters of the Society for the Advancement of Management. In its campus division, the Society seeks to assist in communicating the practice of professional management through the interaction of students, faculty and practicing managers. By having a chapter of SAM on F-HC's campus, students can learn from professional managers who have worked in business.

Dr. Bobby Bush serves as adviser to the F-HC chapter of SAM.

Tigers Prove Regular Season Was No Fluke

By Bob Jones, Sports Editor

Nobody can deny that the Detroit Tigers were by far the best team in baseball this year. Their easy wins in the playoffs and World Series proved that their regular season was no fluke, as they were the first team since the legendary 1927 Yankees to lead the league from the first day of the season to the last. The Tigers won the Series the same way they won 104 games in the regular season, with solid pitching and a different batting hero every game.

It's too bad the Cubs had to choke in the playoffs. A Chicago-Detroit World Series would have been much more exciting. I guess the Cubs just aren't meant to be in the World Series. It will be interesting to see how many Cubs fans there will be next season if they don't do well. I can't seem to find many of those Atlanta Braves fans that seemed to be all over the place a couple of years ago.

I knew it couldn't last. The upset jinx finally caught up with the Ohio State Buckeyes, just as it has hit almost every top contender for the national title, including former No. 1 teams Miami and Nebraska. Surprising Purdue took advantage of an inexperienced Ohio State secondary for the 28-23 upset, despite 191 yards rushing, 102 yards receiving, and two touchdowns by sensational tailback Keith Byars. Byars has to be the leading favorite in the Heisman Trophy race after he led the Buckeyes back from a 24-0 deficit for a thrilling 45-38 victory over Illinois. All he did was rush for 274 yards and five TD's, both school records, as he went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark and scored at least two touchdowns for the twelfth consecutive game. Doug Flutie of Boston College, the other leading Heisman candidate, proved he was human with a subpar performance in the Eagle's 24-10 win over Temple.

Foge Fazio of Pittsburgh (1-5), Ray Perkins of Alabama (2-4), and Gerry Faust of Notre Dame (3-3) are three coaches who will be under heavy pressure to resign at the end of the season if their teams don't turn things around in a hurry. All three coaches took over established winning programs in the last two or three years and have not shown the ability to keep their programs up to what they were when they took over. They may be good, honest coaches, but their alumni and fans want good, honest coaches who can win nine or 10 games a year.

The Chester County Eagles continue to be one of the most surprising teams in the state as they have posted a perfect 6-0 record behind the running of halfback Randy Arnold. Arnold currently leads the area in points with 92 (15 per game) and rushing with 914 yards (152 per game). Their biggest game of the season will be Friday night against District 14-AA rival McNairy Central at McNairy. Both the Eagles and the Bobcats are 3-0 in district play, and the winner should capture a spot in the state playoffs.

It's almost sad to see old Franco Harris try to play this season. He seems to be getting worse with each passing Sunday as he struggles for one or two yards each carry. His combined stats for the last two games are 12 carries for 17 yards, and his season totals are 59 carries for 151 yards and no touchdowns. It's a shame that his great career will be tarnished because he wouldn't admit to himself that he just didn't have the ability anymore.

Soccer Team Downs UT-Martin for First Win

By Bobby McVey

To prove that last year's 3-0 Homecoming win over UT-Martin was no fluke, F-HC's extramural soccer team went to Martin Saturday and came home with a 4-3 win. That victory improved the team's record to 1-1 for the year, and the club will go for its second win this Saturday against the Paducah Soccer Club in Paducah, Ky.

The going seemed almost too easy for F-HC as the team cruised to a 2-0 lead with early goals by Mark Ogwuru and Phillip Satterfield. The individual moves combined with the fine teamwork of forwards Ogwuru, Satterfield and Dave Ligon seemed to be too much for an inexperienced Martin defense.

Martin did not roll over and die, however, as it closed the gap to 2-1 off a chip over the defense as Grady Capps kicked the ball past F-HC goalie Jeff Howell.

Ogwuru struck for his second goal to once again give Freed-Hardeman a two-goal advantage at 3-1. Martin's John Sanford scored near the end of the first half to keep the Pacers within striking distance with the score 3-2 at the game's midpoint.

Ten minutes into the second half, Capps headed in a cross that went off goalie Howell's hands to tie the score for the first time in the game at three apiece. At about the middle of the second half, Freed-Hardeman's Dave Ligon dribbled past a Martin defender and kicked the ball past a drawn-out goalie to provide the winning score.

Martin went all out in the last 10 minutes and brought practically the entire team to the offensive end in an effort to tie the game, but the Pacers couldn't manage to put the ball in the net as the F-HC defense combined a mixture of luck and hustle to pull out the victory. Martin had numerous chances to score in the final minutes, but either the ball was kicked out by F-HC, or the UT-M players missed the goal.

This was an important game, according to club president, Kent Carter. "A few of our players were pretty discouraged when we didn't score against CBC in our first game (a 2-0 loss), so this game should give us all the confidence we need in order to have a winning season." Carter added, "The team worked more smoothly on offense than we did against Christian Brothers. We had numerous scoring opportunities because we kept the offense spread out and crossed the ball to the open men. If we can continue to do that, we will continue to win."

"Mark Ogwuru had an excellent game," said head coach Phillip Satterfield. "He not only scored two goals but also showed he could play defense as well as offense in the second half."

Saturday's game at Paducah is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. Paducah will travel to Freed-Hardeman for a 2 p.m. contest on Sunday, Nov. 4. The Lions face Christian Brothers in a rematch in the annual Homecoming game here on Nov. 9.

Softball, 3-on-3 highlight Intramural Action

Here's a brief look at how intramurals are going as the fall semester comes to its midpoint and a number of sports are winding up.

3-on-3 basketball is the only major activity which has completed both the regular season and playoffs. In the men's league the Alpha Tau #2 team won both the regular season and playoffs to take first place. Sigma Rho finished in second, and Tri Zeta took third place.

The men's smurf league championship was captured by Tri Zeta #1 behind the outside play of Bob Jones and the inside play of Greg Geppert. Alpha Tau took second, and TAG took third.

Billene Howard and Shirley Woody led Alpha Tau to first place in the women's 3-on-3 league, with Sigma Rho and Phi Kappa finishing second and third.

The regular season for softball competition is coming to a close with the playoffs scheduled for this week and part of next. In the men's club league playoffs Alpha Tau #1 will face the winner of last night's game between Tri Zeta #1 and Phi Kappa #4 at 5 p.m. today, weather permitting. Alpha Tau #2, PKA #1, and Tri Zeta #2 qualified for the men's open league playoffs with the championship game set for Monday at 4 p.m. In the women's league Phi Kappa #1 earned the top seed in the playoffs with Tri Zeta, Sigma Rho, and Philo battling for second and third spots.

In the home run derby held Saturday Stuart Fraser of Tri Zeta won the men's competition, and Amy Sholar slugged her way to first place in the women's division.

Soccer is nearing the close of its regular season, and Phi Kappa #1 is the only undefeated team. Tri Zeta is currently in second place with only one loss. Tennis is also near the midpoint with tournaments in singles, doubles and mixed doubles underway.

Closing out the fall intramural schedule are volleyball, which begins next week, a cross-country run on Oct. 23, bowling on Oct. 25, and knee-tackle football begins Dec. 1.

Also, scheduled for 8 tonight is the second annual Faculty vs. Student All-Stars softball game under the lights at Carnes Field. The faculty will be looking for revenge after being edged by the All-Stars in a wild affair last year.

Sigma Rho's Cary Crews makes contact with the ball pitched by Brian Williams in an intramural game. Alpha Tau finished first in the club league; Phi Kappa finished second; and Tri Zeta finished third.
