"Autumn" Is Theme Of Lovely Party

The first formal party of the year took place on the evening of November 17, when the college boys and coeds gathered in the auditorium, the latter charming in a rainbow of evening frocks. The theme of the evening was "Autumn" and that motif was first carried out by a parade of the girls, for the purpose of choosing the "Chrysanthemum Girl" and maids. Brother Cope announced each young lady, as she proceeded to the stage and back, accompanied by Carrie Neal Hardeman Foy at the grand piano. Then all the audience not participating in the march cast ballots and chose Sue Kelly as "Chrysanthemum Girl", and Thelma Patterson, Ann Fant, Jo Kelly and Jean Newberry as maids. All were presented corsages of pink and yellow "mums."

A surprise feature came next—the rendition, by a chorus of nine boys, of a group of wedding songs, which they sang (in earnest) the following Saturday night at the Pett-Johnson wedding in Corinth, Miss.

Miss Galloway and Miss Shelly then conducted a series of "progressive conversations", on stated subjects, partners for the first "conversation" being chosen by the matching of "autumn leaves", cut from vari-colored paper.

The last feature of the evening was a visit to the dining hall, which had been transformed. In the center of each table was a glowing red candle, set in the center of a yellow apple, cored to form a candlestick. Autumn foliage surrounded the centerpiece, and the places were indicated by paper napkins in the fall shades of rust, yellow and green. The refreshments—generous portions of chocolate cake and brick ice cream topped with cherries added another touch (as well as a delicious taste) to the colorful scene.

Photographer James Horton and his assistant were on hand with camera and flash bulbs to catch the gay scene for keeps.

A. C. E. Celebrates Child's Book Week

In recognition of Book Week, the A. C. E. gave an entertaining chapel program, Friday November 21.

Betty Higdon, mistress of ceremonies, announced the program, which began with a speech on The History of Children's Literature by Ruth Yardley. Edgar Choate then told the story of The Ugly Duckling. He was followed by a pantomime of the song School Days, in which Jeanne Pickup acted as teacher, with Douglas Waters, June Moss and Jo Kelly acting as the pupils. A group joined in on the last chorus. Jack Crone told the story of Little Black Sambo, drawing a colored picture of the jungle as he did so. The program ended with Bob Smith's leading everybody in "America."

This program tied in well with the theme of National Children's Book Week—"Books for the World of Tomorrow." It was emphasized in our library by the attractive posters and displays Miss Galloway had arranged. One of these was an exhibit of original children's books, written, illustrated and bound by the members of the Children's Literature Class. The diversity and originality of many of these books is almost unbelievable. "The Ugly Worm", from the talented hands of Jack Crone, deserves a medal and a large audience. Others of comparable charm and ingenuity are: "Daisy", by Lewis C. McCrory; "Sammy Fish Takes A Trip" by Howard Smith; "Zoe", by Charles Welch; "A B C's For Children" by Franklin Wheeler; "Little Oakie Acorn", by Dorothy Waller; and "Freddie the Frog," by Florence Swinney.

Thanksgiving Brings Varied Pleasures

Thanksgiving was a very pleasant day on the F. H. C. campus. An impressive holiday program was presented in the morning in Chapel Hall.

Brother C. P. Roland read the scripture for the devotional. Bob Smith led the singing, and Brother James Cope said the prayer.

The program was composed of these numbers:

The Story of Thanksgiving — Herbert Swinney
"Our Director" and "Washington Post" — College Orchestra
A Thanksgiving Medley — Nellie Wilkes
Pocahontas Ballad — Norma Jean Troutt, Marjorie Haliburton, Jo Palmer, Eloise Griffin, Mary Jane Bragg, Jean Newberry, Joyce Wiseman
"On Salem Road, A Puritan Play Time, 1623; Place, A Puritan home near Charleston, Mass.

Persons — Mercy Penty, a Puritan housewife — Mary Jane Cason
Praisegod, her husband — Robert Camp

Richard, her son — Harold Hazelip
Charles, their indentured manservant — G. C. Bucy, Jr.
Dame Terpin, newly widowed — Vivian Landers

Patriotic Medley —
Clarinet — Barbara Watt
Saxophone — Dick Dewhirst
"America, the Beautiful" — Sung by Audience

The second major event of the day was the bountiful holiday dinner in the cafeteria, featuring chicken and dressing, with trimmings, and chocolate pie.

In the afternoon occurred a stirring game of touch football between the Junior and Senior boys. In the evening the reception rooms of both boys' and girls' dorms were crowded with "daters", including many of the alumni and other friends who chose this day for a visit to the campus, and who were most heartily welcomed.

D. B. Hardeman Chapel Speaker

D. B. Hardeman, son of Bro. N. B. Hardeman and "Miss Joe", former assistant to the Attorney-General of Tennessee, former mayor of San Angelo, Texas, and at present a member of the Texas Senate, spoke at the chapel exercises Nov. 26. In a clear, concise manner he spoke of the challenges the United States must meet.

Sen. Hardeman spoke briefly of the challenge that presented itself during the Revolutionary war. "In 1776 the colonies little thought of emerging with the greatest charter the world has ever known. That charter spoke of a more perfect union; one that would establish justice, provide for the common welfare and secure the blessings of liberty. Another challenge presented itself during the Civil War, when it was decided that the nation could not exist divided, and each section of the country, desirous that its views should be predominant, fought valiantly to force them upon the other. The greatest challenge presented itself at the close of the last great conflict. The superiority of the American industrial facilities and the military genius of our leaders in annihilating the enemy, have placed us in a position for world leadership." "We have the theory and mechanics to govern," proclaimed Mr. Hardeman.

"Our free public school system, the freedom of religion and the use of the free press, help us in meeting this challenge."

Mr. Hardeman continued, "It is a fact that civilization began in Greece, migrated westward to Rome, went underground during the Middle Ages, afterward to the British Isles, thence to America for us to translate into reality."

New AAUW Branch Includes FH Teachers

A new branch of the American Association of University Women has recently been organized in Jackson, Tenn. Among its charter members are Miss Anderson and Mrs. Powers, of the College faculty. Miss Galloway and Miss Shelly placed membership soon after the installation of officers, which occurred on Nov. 20, in the library of Lambuth College, in Jackson. The first three mentioned attended the installation ceremonies.

The A. A. U. W. has a long and brilliant history in the furthering of American education. It is limited to graduates of a restricted group of colleges and universities. The Jackson branch numbered more than forty on establishment and will have some additions.

The next meeting of the group will be on Dec. 13, when President and Mrs. Warren Jones, of Union University, Jackson, are opening their home for an evening reception, honoring the faculties of Union, Lambuth, Jackson High School, and Freed-Hardeman.

Recital Features Songs, Piano Trios

Miss Ruby Caldwell presented the annual pre-Christmas recital of her music class on the evening of Dec. 12. It included these numbers:

March in C —
Piano I — Marjorie Haliburton; Piano II — Waurine Young, Almarene Bristol; Piano III — J. D. Harris, L. E. Cranford, Jack Bailey.

Chorus —

BROTHER FOLWELL UNDERGOES OPERATION

With deep sympathy, the campus received the news of the operation of Brother W. O. Folwell, on Nov. 7, and his critical sickness ensuing. The operation was performed at Vanderbilt Hospital, Nashville. Brother Folwell spent 11 years on our faculty as head of the Commercial Department, and we grieve over the misfortune in health that has overtaken him.

Alumnus Donates Gift Of Furniture

Vernon Morris, '36, who in enjoying a splendid business in the furniture firm of Rountree-Morris, in Visalia, Calif., is currently making a very generous gesture toward his alma mates. He is furnishing, in splendid style, the newest apartment on the Freed-Hardeman campus as a tribute to the College and an aid to Christian education. For us, it is a cherished memorial to a very pleasant relationship with Vernon as pupil and brother.

Brother W. C. Hall, who with Sister Hall visited Vernon last summer, has been intermediary in listing the needs of the apartment and in receiving and assembling the furniture. The articles donated are all handsome new pieces: bed, springs and mattress, chest of drawers, upholstered chair, desk, breakfast table and four matching chairs, in chromium and cream and red leather, electric cookstove and refrigerator, heating stove, and two rugs.

The apartment itself is a cozy two-room-and-bath residence just back of the twin apartment buildings for married couples on White Street. It is the northern end of a long row of garages; it is covered with brick siding and is a very convenient dwelling. The lucky tenant is taking up residence at the beginning of the winter quarter.

Soon a metal plaque will be set in the apartment, bearing Vernon Morris's name and the narration of his gift, which is most deeply appreciated by everyone connected with F. H. C.

Vital F. H. C. News

A wedding of interest on the campus is that of Virginia Perkins '46 to "Bill", William R. Davis. She was married at her home in Shadyside, Ohio, on Sunday afternoon, June 22, 1947. The ceremony was performed by Bro. H. W. Bankes, of Hollidays Cove, West Virginia, who had also married her parents just 22 years and one month prior to that date. Her husband is a student at Ohio State University in Columbus and Virginia is now working in an office in the Administration Department of the University.

On October 21 was born to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anders (Orpha Baxter '46) a daughter weighing 8 pounds, 15 ounces. She has been named Charlotte Fauvetta. The baby's proud aunt, Nellie (Continued on Page Four)

"Treasure Chest" Heads Begin Yearbook Work

The Staff for the Treasure Chest, our "annual", was chosen by the faculty committee and was presented before the Chapel for its approval November 26. The staff is as follows:

Editor — Paul Randolph
Assistant Editors — Thelma Patterson, Betty Belue
Business Manager — Ray Chester
Assistant Business Manager — Audrey McMurray
Features Editor — Woody Loden
Snapshots — George Elkins, Peggy Billingsley
Humor — Donald Daugherty
Akin Editor — Orlan Miller
Organizations — Martha Ann Pollock
Art — Jack Crone
Sports Editor — John D. Parker
Circulation Manager — Marie Nash

The staff has begun its work and requests that everyone cooperate in every way possible to help make this the best annual ever published at F. H. C.

A numerous group of the student body have had their pictures made. If you have not visited the studio to have your annual portrait made, please do so in the near future.

The cover for the yearbook has already been chosen. It is beautiful, and different from recent ones, but is being kept as a surprise by the staff.

Class Entertains With Holiday Tea

A formal tea was given in honor of the women of the faculty and the girls of Freed-Hardeman College in the Home Economics Department, Sunday afternoon, December 7, 1947, from three o'clock to five, by the girls of the Girls' Social Problems Class.

The guests were received by Marie Nash, Jean Newberry, Frances Henderson, Miss Autenreith, and Miss Shelly. They were then directed to the lovely tea table by Sue Kelly.

The lace-draped table was adorned with a beautiful arrangement of holly and nandina berries, with red tapers on either side.

Open-face sandwiches in the shape of Christmas trees and bells; cookies in Christmas colors; colored mints, and tea were served. Flora Williams poured tea. Margie Parker, Helen Welch, and Myrtle Riggs assisted in serving.

The decorations of the room were holly, red berries, and red candles; thus the holiday motif was carried out.

Soft music—mostly Christmas carols—was played throughout the tea. Ruth Daniels took charge of the records.

Dorothy Waller, Grace Duncan, Marinel and Rosabel Raines, and Vivian Landers, who were unable to be present, were in charge of part of the decorations and entertainments.

Looking In On New Gymnasium

If you don't take physical education, maybe you haven't had an occasion to look over the new gymnasium. It is located on the athletic field to the east of the tennis courts. This building, constructed of concrete blocks with red-brick trim and large windows, replaces the old gymnasium that was over the cafeteria. The floor is of concrete, surfaced with modern asphalt tile. The new bleachers on either side of the gym are similar to the ones that were in the old gym. However, they will seat fifty percent more people, as they contain three rows, rather than two, as we formerly had. Second-year students (especially those who stood up at any of the (Continued on Page Four)

Alum Is Author Of "Gospel Novel"

Alumnus Jean Thornton, minister of the West Corinth Congregation in Corinth, Miss., has two recent achievements. One is his lovely infant daughter, Jeanita Ann, born on Thanksgiving Day to Delphia (Hudson) Thornton. Another is the new book of fiction of which he is the author. At our special and urgent request, he wrote a review of the book, which will come from the (George) Dehoff Press the first of the year. The review follows: "I WAS A SKY-PILOT is a gospel novel written to enlighten one while he reads for pleasure. The author felt that too many of the novels of today were not really wholesome and it is an effort to show that one can read with interest a novel that is not filled with 'suggestive phrases'. Not only is it free from thoughts that degrade but it will help one to be clean in his thinking. He and the publisher feel that it will fill a distinct need.

"The novel is designed to teach one the truth of God. It is the record of a young preacher's life and though many of the incidents are purely fictional there are others that are actual happenings. In tracing the life of this imaginary preacher, one gains lessons on the plan of salvation, purity of life, the true church, giving and other phases. It shows why young people who enter state schools do not always come out as clean as they entered, and the advantage of the Christian-schools. It is filled with the thrills of adventures with a preacher, his "ups and downs", and leaves one central thought, 'blessed is the man who in the darkest night can see a star.'

"In the Preface the author apologizes for the title in the use of the term 'Sky-pilot'. It is a slang expression meaning a preacher. He did not like the use of slang but needed a title that would capture the eye of the reader.

"The INTRODUCTION is written by Maurice M. Howell of Tusculum, Alabama. At the time of this writing the book is in process of publication and will be a DEHOFF PUBLICATION. Delivery will be by the first of the year. It is bound in durable cloth, with jackets, containing 126 pages. Prepublication sales of this book have been pleasing. The novel will sell for $1.50. I WAS A SKY PILOT embodies more than a year's specific planning and writing."

(You may order a copy from the publisher, George W. Dehoff Murfreesboro, Tennessee or from the author, Jean Thornton, Box 613, Corinth, Mississippi.)

Jere Bass Recounts FHC - Abilene Picnic

Jere Bass, popular member of our last year's graduating class, writes from Abilene Christian College as follows:

"I have been asked to send you some information you might be interested in for the Sky Rocket. It isn't altogether original with me. Vannah Vannoy, Sue Nash, Joy Boutwell, and possibly others have worked on it with me. "Dearset Alma Mater, cherished F. H. C. ..." sang again the voices of some 40 A. C. C. students who had spent so many happy days in the halls of F. H. C., as they surrounded the fire after a weiner roast on the evening of October 18, at Abilene State Park.

"Under the chairmanship of Martelle Petty, a committee composed of Bill Humble, Jerry Carrington, Joy Boutwell, and Tommy Shaver, made arrangements for the outing. Although more than a score of former students were unable to attend, those who trimmed sticks again recalled similar experiences at Chickasaw.

"The evening was even more characteristic in other ways. It began with a softball game, the two teams being captained by Tommy Shaver and Don Vannoy, who chose girls and boys alike to make up their teams. During the game, such cheers as 'He's a Phi Kappa', or 'That's a Philo for you', were heard. As the sun went down, there came the announcement of 'chow', and in the excitement none took thought as to the final score.

"Surrounding the table, the group stood with bowed head while Bro. Harry Payne offered the blessing.

"Tommy Shaver was kept busy opening the Dr. Peppers (and we did not have any Coca Colas, Bro. Hall) while Martelle was equally occupied with his call, 'Is there anybody who has not had some marshmallows?'

"After eating, the attention was centered on final introductions and plans for a second outing. Bill Humble was elected new chairman for a later social gathering and he chose as his assistants, Jerry Carrington, the Don Vannoy, and F. R. Petty. As personal introductions were made, each one stepped into the spotlight in his turn, giving his name, address, years he attended, and society membership. Those attending were: Jerry Carrington, Bill Humble, Bill Cannon, Jere Bass, Tommy Shaver, F. R. Petty, Vannah Vannoy, Don Vannoy, Martelle and Delores Freeman Petty, Ivan Wilson, Roy and Sue Wilson, James Burrow, Bro. and Mrs. Harry Payne, Betty Record, Elma Lee Hall, Thelma Boyd, Willie Warren, Ralph Edmundson, Marcan Neece, Sue Nash, Wallace and Doris Harville Whitehorn, Joy Boutwell, Carroll Smith, Martha Malone, Carl Robinson, Stanley Lockhart, Robert Bond, Vernon McCuistion, Russell Bankes, Jim Oldham, Irene Nail.

"Approximately ten guests joined in the fun and were all of the opinion that it must be a 'most wonderful place.'

"In conclusion, society songs were sung, followed by the F. H. C. Alma Mater, with each person returning to the past just for a moment and making more secure the many memories locked in his mind's treasure chest.

"Other alumni who were unable to attend were: Marge White, Clifton and Connie Laird, Clarence Olson, James Wilson, Elbert Barnhart, Evelyn Barnhart, Don and Audrey Pettry Gardner, Willard Reel, Clifford Reel, Bob Meyers, Paul McGaughey, Jolene Fulmer, Frances Hendrix, Mary Ella Norman, J. W. Roberts, Luther Roberts, Harlan Turner, Delmar Watson, Kenneth Haley, R. L. Stewart, Georgia Sanders, Huey Holcomb, Buford Pitman, Idus and Winifred England, Bill Purdue and Don Mansur."

Jere adds: "Have you heard that Bill Humble has been select-

If the records are correct there are on hundred and seventy-five "candidate for preachers." Although the majority are from the South, why cannot one-fourth go to the North, West, East and North-Eastern States on completing their school work? They are crying and needing help to propagate the Gospel. Some preachers believe they would not be supported. Perhaps this is true; however, remember that Mark 15:16 says to preach the Gospel to the whole world. If there is a will, God will provide the way.

CLUBS

Business Council

The Business Council met on Tuesday night Nov. 18 and elected officers for the second quarter.

Bro. Moody gave a talk which included several amusing anecdotes. A quiz was taken by everyone, in which the names of flowers and trees were to be filled in the blank spaces to complete a story of two lovers. Three musical numbers were presented. The first was by Mignon Colwell, accompanied by Waurine Young. The others were by Dick Dewhirst and Raymond Muncy, accompanied by Marjorie Haliburton.

The following were elected as officers: John Stanley, President; Thelma Patterson, Vice-President; Martha Pollock, Secretary; Ann Fant, Reporter.

Phi Kappa Alpha

The officers of the Phi Kappa Alpha Society for the first six weeks of the second quarter are as follows:

President Irvin Himmel
1st Vice-Pres. June Moss
2nd Vice-Pres. John Stanley
Secretary Jo Palmer
Sgt.-at-arms Norman Whitehorn
Betty Belue was elected reporter for the quarter.

Alpha Tau Present "Friendship" Program

The Alpha Tau society presented one of the most thoughtful programs yet given this year.

Devotional was conducted, after which the Alpha Tau Chorus sang 'Love Divine' in such a way as to make the audience sensitive to the remainder of the program. Ray Chester gave a very interesting talk on "Friendship of People" followed by another song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," by the chorus. "Friendship with God" was the title of Richard Walker's speech in which he gave its characteristic and read the familiar poem, "My God and I". The program was brought to a close with James Walker leading the entire group in "Saviour, Like A Shepherd."

Homemakers' Club

The Homemakers had their first meeting on October 24 in the new Home Economics department. The business session was directed and a short talk given by the president, Carolyn Randolph. The vice-president, Genice Mauney, was in charge of the program, which was a general get-acquainted party with games and other entertainments. Initiation rules were read and went into effect the next day, with the new members wearing aprons, no make-up or hair pins, odd socks, carrying towels and cook-books, and bowing to the Senior members.

The room was decorated to carry out the Halloween theme, and a large lighted pumpkin was used as the centerpiece of the table. Fruit salad, Toll-house cookies and iced tea were served.

Other officers for this year are Claribel Welch, secretary, and Dorothy Waller, reporter. Miss Shelly is the faculty advisor.

The second meeting was held in the Bible Room on November 14. The President concluded the initiation with a candlelight ceremony.

The club voted to join the State home economics organization. A committee was chosen to write a new constitution for the club and present it at the next meeting.

After a short period of recreation, candy and nuts were served in tiny orange and green baskets.

Brethren Witt, Moody To Teachers' Meeting

On Nov. 21 Bro. Moody and Bro. Witt attended the West Tennessee Teachers meeting held in Memphis. Bro. Witt was chairman of the Mathematical and Science department and presided over the session of that section. Bro. Moody was our representative to the Commercial Teachers' Group.

Bro. Witt also was recently a guest of the Ph. D Club meeting that was held at the New Southern Hotel in Jackson.

Expert — an ordinary man a long way from home.

Sports Highspots

The Freed-Hardeman fall sports are practically at an end with nothing definitely decided as to who is champion in either football or softball. In the former, there are still two more games to be played in the third round before anything more can be decided. In the first round, the Sigma Rhos, Philos, and Alpha Taus were tied for the championship, but in the second round the Alpha Taus and Philos lost to a mighty Sigma Rho team. So far, in the third round, the Alpha Taus have defeated the Sigma Rhos and the Philos. In softball the championship depended on two tie games — one between the Blue Team and the Phi Kappas in the first round, the other one between the Alpha Taus and the Sigma Rhos.

Next on the sports list is basketball. All societies will be well represented on the court this year. The Philos will be led by Charles Gibson, one of the returning players. They have several new players coming in, among whom are "Red" Reid and Ike Roland. As yet, the Philo girls, under the leadership of Patty Grissom, haven't organized.

The Sigma Rho boys, starting out with virtually a new team, will be captained by Dick Daughtry, Walter Irvin is the only returning player. The Sigma Rho girls, ably captained by "Tuffie" Watt, have two returning players — Sue Gray better known as "Shotgun," and "Tuffie".

The Alpha Tau girls, under the leadership of Nannette Johnson, will be enriched by the capable presence of Cereice Booker and Mignon Caldwell; while the Alpha Tau boys, in addition to Ray Chester and Wayne Porter, rejoice in having Joe Hope and Roy Lanier on their team.

The Phi Kappa boys will have two or three returning players. Paul Randolph will return the second quarter to play. Some of the new boys who will see plenty of action are Bodine Young, Gilfof Carter, and Luther Davis. The girls have Margaret Ayres, Martie Pollock, Norma Jean Troutt, Jamie Ussery, and Waurine Young as Junior players coming in to help June Coats, Dorothy Archer, Lois Hicks, all Seniors.

From all aspects the teams will be well-balanced and be in there all the time with the determination to win.

Alpha Taus Softball Champions 2-1

It was well worth the cold feet and hands to watch the championship battle between the Alpha Taus and Phi Kappas which climaxed in victory for the Alpha Taus. The championship hasn't definitely gone to the Alpha Taus yet, however, since their tie game with the Sigma Rhos is still in balance.

Jimmy Potts scored the first run on a throw-away ball to third in the last of the second inning. The Phi Kappas, not to be outdone, tied the score when Carter came across, but that was the final tally for the undefeated Red Team. But the Alpha Taus were not through. In the last of the fourth, John Parker, in traditional style, slammed a fly deep into center field. The fielders missed it and, because of a wide throw, Parker came in for the winning run. The game was valiantly played by both sides, but the Blue Team were just a little bit more on their toes.

Sigma Rhos Trample Phi Kappas 14-0

The Sigma Rhos really have a passing combination in Irwin to Jackson. Both touchdowns resulted from completed passes. The first came in the first quarter when Bruce caught a pass about 20 yards on a dead run and went over. In the third quarter came the second touchdown. Although the Phi Kappas had one or two good scoring chances, they failed to score. Laurels go to Walter Irwin for playing a good game and really slinging the pigskin accurately.

Sigma Rhos Defeat Phi Kappas 12-6

November 18th, the Sigma Rhos met and defeated the Phi Kappas for the third time this year on the gridiron. However, the Phi Kappas have one consolation — every time they have played the Sigma Rhos this year, they have cut the margin of victory by 6 points. The first game they lost 18-0; in the second fracas, they were defeated 12-0; and in the last battle, the final score stood 12-6. Nevertheless, the PKAs have been playing good, hard ball and have been in every game with determination and grand spirit.

Philos Succumb To Alpha Taus 6-0

November 19th the Philos played a splendid game but the Alpha Taus had just a little bit more determination and power. At first the Blue Team was hindered by the absence of Lanier but he was ably replaced and they marched on to victory. The lone score was made by a pass combination, Walker to Hope, the center. Toward the last of the game "Red" Reid threw an extremely long pass which his receiver caught but was forced out of bounds before he went to pay dirt. On the next play, incidentally the last play, the Philos tried again but failed to connect, so the Alpha Taus emerged victorious.

Philos Trample Phi Kappas 12-0

(November 25th) In their last game on the football cycle this year, the Philos again defeated the Phi Kappas. Although they had one or two good scoring opportunities the PKAs failed to capitalize on them, while the Philos used every chance afforded to push the pigskin into pay dirt. Right at the end of the game, the Philos were camping on the Phi Kappa goal line but didn't run the ball over until the last play, when Muncy, the Philo center, gained the necessary inches to add the last six points.

Sigma Rhos Lose Heartbreaker To Alpha Taus

On November 26th, the Sigma Rhos, the football champions of the second round, bowed their heads in deference to a mighty Alpha Tau team. Although both teams were in there playing their hearts out, the Blue Team was just a little more powerful than the strong Sigma Rhos. If the Alpha Taus win their next tussle — and it is probable that they will — they become the third-round champions. If the Sigma Rho team defeats its opponent also, then the two teams will be tied for the football championship.

THANKSGIVING FRACAS Seniors Defeat Under-Classmen 6-0

In the traditional Thanksgiving game, the Seniors, living up to their name, showed the underclassmen "who is boss" by defeating them 6-0. It must be admitted, however, in defense of the Juniors, that it took an overtime period for the Seniors to truly show their strength. The only score came as a result of a pass from Walter Irwin, the Sigma Rho football captain, to Chas. Gibson, the Philo sports captain. The Junior captain was Jack Cannon, while John Parker served in that capacity for the Seniors.

Music Is Theme For Two Chapels

Two of the campus organizations have recently used musical topics as the center of chapel programs. On Nov. 13, the Phi Kappa theme was Jerome Kern. J. L. Hicks acted as Master of Ceremonies; Harold Hazellip gave a splendid biography of the composer; Joyce Wiseman sang "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes"; Dick Dewhirst played "Till the Clouds Roll By" on the Clarinet; Elinor Willbanks sang "Make Believe", with Majorie Haliburton as accompanist.

On Dec. 2, Brother Greer Hendon's class in Song Leading gave the Chapel entertainment. It consisted of a men's chorus, singing first "Harvest Time" in the do-re-mi notes, then five other hymns, led respectively by Howard Mitchell, Bill Scott, Dean Beagle, Huey Hartselle, and Eldon Rogers. The concluding number was the "biggest quartet known," composed of George Elkins, Winfred Reno, Mack Langford and Edgar Choate. They sang feelingly, "Mary Had A Little Lamb," by parts, in section, appearing, accumulating, and disappearing.

Jus' Pwain Ol' Duht

Where there's life, there's hope . . . and scandal. Now you can do your own hoping but we'll help you out with the scandal. Of course we aren't talking about real honest-to-goodness scandal, like a lipstick smudge on a student's collar. But here's another helping of slushy, mushy, romantic gossip.

Mary Jane Cason's boy friend is going to Florida so maybe Jack Crews will have a chance now.

If Joe Hope doesn't look out he's going to wake up some morning looking for some new girl friends for after all one can get too many irons in the fire.

We wonder why Marie Nash always comes back to school looking so dreamy-eyed.

Was Ike Roland the boy who once said he wouldn't date a girl who lived in the dorm? What about it, Ike?

Could the red-headed young man seen with Elda Lucas have been her ever-loving Bob?

It seems that Dorothy Giddens likes bowling (Boling).

A little bird told us that Jo Kelley has a nice-size picture of Monk Camp in her room.

Flash! Joe Moore woke up long enough in Church History to answer roll call.

It might prove quite interesting if we knew why Dean Beagle likes for it to rain on Sunday night.

Lovers Come Back

During the Thanksgiving Holidays some of the former students visited the campus and we now know why some students have not been dating. They've been looking forward to that visit from that only one.

Among these were: Nell Baxter, Lydia Burgin, Florice Bailey, Jesma Dean, Virginia Nicholas, Lola Giddens, and Reeder Oldham.

Dust

Brother Cope doesn't seem to be making enough money at the Sweetie Shoppe, as now he's trying to sell a dandruff remover that he dreamed up.

A new game, which we're sure wasn't invented at F. H. C., is called photography. It's simple to play, all you do is turn out the lights and see what develops.

One person's reason for liking the Southern girls was as follows: "I like Southern girls because it takes them so long to say no."

Who said boys at school here weren't brave? We have reason to believe otherwise, as two of them are getting married in the next few weeks.

Since we can hear those good old exams calling us here's wishing "you all" a gossipin' good time till we can dig around for some more dirt.

P. S. To the many who wish to show their appreciation to the Dirt-Daubers for their kindness in snooping on them for the first quarter . . . We urge you to address all Christmas packages to "Gossip Editors, Freed-Hardeman College."

Brethren Dixon, Nicks At Chapel Assembly

Bro. H. A. Dixon of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, who recently closed a meeting at Highland Avenue Church of Christ in Jackson, Tennessee, (where he had formerly preached while at the same time a teacher at Freed-Hardeman) addressed the Chapel November 25. Bro. Dixon emphasized the dangers that confront a Christian attending any institution where atheism is taught. He spoke of one institution in which 250 pupils claimed church membership, but only 178 attended the Sunday morning classes and some did not attend worship services.

"Modernism," exclaimed Bro. Dixon, "is atheism clothed. Modernists try to explain the Bible upon a natural basis. This was given by a professor of 'theology' as an explanation of Acts Two. The man admitted that for some time he was unable to explain the chapter in question; but he explained that after he had seen the 'Passion Play' he was able to understand and explain it. He explained that every nationality bought a translation of the play, but after the play began the translations were useless, for all understood what was said even though it was spoken in a foreign tongue. Such explanations are condoned by many; however, the genuine Bible student will recognize them as false."

Bro. Tommie Nicks, of Nashville, who led the singing for the Jackson meeting, accompanied Bro. Dixon and led our Chapel song.

BROTHER HALL RETURNS

Brother W. C. Hall conducted a revival for the church in Bradenton, Florida, from November 18 through 27. Alumnus Winston Tynes, '39, is present minister of that congregation. Brother Hall was accompanied by Sister Hall, and they made the trip in their car. The meeting was pleasant, well attended, and successful, but Brother Hall seems content to be back in the Comp class. Among the alumni who attended the meeting were President and Mrs. (Ruth Johnson '25) L. R. Wilson, of Florida Christian College, Tom Butler, of Lakeland, and Corinne Cannon, '42, of Palmetto.

Those students going home the week-end of the 22nd were: Carolyn Taylor, Starkville, Miss.; Peggy Billingsley and Nellie Wilkes, Memphis, Tenn.; Bobby Munn, Middleton, Tenn.; Margaret English visited in Nashville, Tenn.

Among the many visitors who were in and out of the campus during the Thanksgiving holidays were: Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Billingsley, Memphis, Tenn.; Gordon Cathey, Reeder Oldham, Florice Bailey, Lola Giddens, Marion Doolittle, Mae Nell Stanfill, Norma Jean White, Joe Vickery, Jesma Dean and Lydia Burgin, all of the class of '47.

Miss Bernice Bailey, Home Ec teacher for the past two years, her mother, Mrs. Virgie Bailey, and sister, Oleta Bailey, and Jesma Dean '47 were visitors also.

Dorsey Hardeman, Senator from San Angelo, Texas, and son of Pres. N. B. Hardeman, was a frequent visitor on the campus during his recent stay in his father's home Nov. 20-28. He was accompanied by his wife, the former Miss Geneva Moore, of Brownwood, Texas, and by his ten-month-old son, Mark Nicholas, mascot of the Texas Senate.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Daughtry, of Mt. Vernon, Texas, were on the campus the week-end of Nov. 8.

Bro. Mardelle Lynch '39 of Sweetwater, Texas, visited F. H. C. briefly on Nov. 12, en route home from a meeting in Dickson, Tenn.

Mrs. Charles Freeman of Dallas was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jim Cope, and Brother Cope, Nov. 7-10.

The Pass Snearses '38 of Dyersburg, Tenn. were visitors on our campus Nov. 13. They were returning from a meeting at Selma, Ala. and a visit with Ettie Snearses Walls '45 in New Orleans.

Hardeman Nichols, editor of the '47 Treasure Chest and recently a student at University of West Virginia, made an F. H. C. visit the weekend of Nov. 15.

Mrs. W. M. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Scott, of Charleston, West Virginia, visited Bill, Wanda and "Pam" Scott the week-end before Thanksgiving.

Mary Hill Cope '45 visited the Jim Copes during the recent holidays.

Clovis and Ruth Williams Caudle, both '47, and Mrs. A. E. Williams visited briefly on the campus on Nov. 29. Flora Williams accompanied them to the Williams home in Trenton, Tenn. for the week-end.

Brother C. E. Springer, of Evansville, Indiana, was on the campus Dec. 1 and 2, having brought daughter, Jo Nelle, and Jean Bowles back to school after a Thanksgiving visit in Evansville. He was also accompanied by Bro. Akers, minister of our congregation in Evansville.

Katherine Bragg and Margaret Broughton of New Market, Ark., were guests of Mary Jane Bragg during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Bob Makin, of Florence, Ala., visited the campus the week-end of Nov. 30.

Bro. A. J. Veteto, of Bell Buckle, Tenn., former member of our faculty and father of Bruce '48, was on the campus for a number of short visits the last of November and first of December.

James Loden visited brother, Woody, during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Newlywed Ralph and Willene Peters King '45 and '46 and Miss Annie Maud Scott, also an alumna, were Thanksgiving visitors on the campus. The Kings are living and teaching in Florala, Ala. and Miss Scott in Tupelo, Miss.

Miss Ruby Caldwell was called home on Nov. 28, on account of the serious illness of her mother. Enough improvement came that she was able to return to her classes Dec. 3.

The Dick Lanes, of Los Angeles, are among the latest additions to the Freed-Hardeman family, having arrived on the campus Dec. 3.

D. B. HARDEMAN CHAPEL

We have: (1) potential power of world leadership, (2) industrial technique, (3) military power and (4) political ideals. These have been handed to us to preserve and we must accept the responsibility. Blood and sweat, toil and tears, purchased this priceless possession and these alone can preserve it.

"The youth of the nation, the soil and water are our greatest resources. We are trustees for the future generations. As long as we hew to the line in defending principles of right we cannot go far wrong."

The address was concluded with a very fitting statement, "Today's potentialities are tomorrow's realities."

Baxter '47, was one of our recent Thanksgiving visitors.

Jeanita Ann is the brand-new daughter of Jean and Delphia Hudson Thornton, both now of Corinth, Mississippi. She is a seven pound lass and was born on Thanksgiving Day. Her proud aunt, Dorothea Hudson is now on the campus.

Gerry Gaye is the new baby of Arvid and Neva King Barnhart, both '46. She was born on Nov. 4 and is at home in Tucson, Arizona.

Carley and Electra Galbraith Orick have a new daughter, born Nov. 29. They also have a new home in Henderson. Carley is teaching English in Chester County High School. Both the Oricks are alumni.

Dixie is the new little daughter of Kerby and Nell Ledbetter Farrell. She was born Dec. 4 and has a "big brother", Ben.

A recent letter from the Thomas Nelson Pages, '41 of Worcester, Mass., mentions their pleasure in receiving the Sky Rocket. Bro. Page himself is publishing "Truth and Service", now well into its second volume, and the only gospel paper published in the Northeast. He requested a biographical account of Brother

Hardeman, for use in his paper. "I am eager for those who read the paper to know something of the great preachers we have in the brotherhood." "We are enjoying New England life (they were originally from Rochester, N. Y.) although the conservative characteristic of the people makes for slow progress of the church. We are winning a few, however, and they are the salt of the earth."

Brother Paul Randolph '29, of Bandana, Ky., alumnus, member of our Board of Trustees, businessman and leader in his congregation, has undergone a severe spell of sickness lasting a number of weeks this fall. His improvement is received with joy at Freed-Hardeman, partly because it will enable Paul Jean '48 to return to the campus to further his college work.

games last year) really know how to appreciate this fact. The building is well supplied with windows that have guards inside and out. (Those outside were made especially for John Parker's long hits in softball.) There is an overhead heating system.

With the basketball season coming in, students in FHC are beginning to think about the basketball games that will soon be taking place between the different societies and between the Juniors and Seniors. Some of the players have been making good use of the new gymnasium for practice, and they plan to do some hard playing there before long.

Faculty Enjoys Supper Party

The College faculty had its first taste this session of some of the splendid viands served frequently in our cafeteria, when it assembled in social meeting on the evening of Dec. 1. The place was the capacious new clubroom, which was a delightful surprise to many of the wives and husbands who are not on the campus daily.

The tables were laid with paper doilies and scalloped napkins in autumn hues. Marking the places were original autumn-leaf favors, enclosing cups for assorted salted nuts. The menu was served, and largely prepared, by the ladies of the faculty. "Miss Mary" Travis cooked the delicious ham and made fresh vegetable salad; Miss Shelly prepared the buttered peas, and Miss Galloway, the baked stuffed potatoes; Mrs. Foy and Mrs. Powers baked the mince pies, which were served a la mode; and Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Hamilton, Miss Anderson and Miss Autenrieth attended to hot rolls, ice-water, Sanka coffee and the other services necessary for a delightful meal.

Alumna Beauty Becomes Bride

On the evening of Saturday, Nov. 22, at Foote Street Church of Christ in Corinth, Miss. Kathleen Johnson became the bride of Dr. Franz Pett, of Chicago. The wedding was lovely in every respect, utilizing the rich fall colors. Garlands of green and Maroon foliage were used to outline doorways; the pulpit was backed with tall white candelabra, holding dozens of white tapers. Baskets and stands of palms, of huge pale-yellow chrysanthemums and more wine and green foliage studied the whole background for the wedding pair. Bows of rich salmon-toned satin ribbon marked the pews for the family and made the streamers for a wedding-bell, made entirely of blossoms, under which the nuptials occurred.

Brother Jim Cope, of our faculty, performed the ceremony; Demetria Hopper '45, was maid of honor in a lovely gown of Nile-green satin, carrying a crescent arrangement of 'mums in palest wine and yellow. Joanna McClellan '45 was soloist, singing "Because" and "O, Promise Me." She was accompanied by a chorus of nine male voices, which also rendered "The End of a Perfect Day" and the two wedding marches. These voices belonged to Jimmy Mills, Robert Camp, Joe Hope, Richard and James Walker, Richard Dewhirst, Richard Daughtry, Bob Smith and Ralph Stout, all of the present F. H. C. student-body.

The bride's tall blonde beauty was heightened by her wedding gown of white slipper satin, her off-the-face headdress and full veil of illusion, and the sheaf of purple-lipped, white orchids she carried. At the reception following the wedding, held at the country home of her parents, she and the groom cut the handsome three-tiered wedding cake, and then scurried off on their honeymoon.

Kathleen, one of our campus beauties, graduated from F. H. C. in 1945 and last June, graduated again as dental technician from Northwestern University, near Chicago, where her husband is an instructor, and where they will reside. Her mother is also a Freed-Hardeman alumna, having attended our high-school classes when she was Miss Lucille McKenzie.
