Homecoming Activities Kickoff FHC Celebration

Five More Days, And Then All Go Separate Ways For Holidays

In just five more days, roommates, couples, buddies, will be going their separate ways . . . divided and pulled apart by . . . Christmas holidays.

Before this quarter comes to its screeching halt, however, final exams must rear their ugly heads. All final exams will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Fall quarter officially ends December 11, and registration for winter quarter will be December 31.

Class work begins New Year's Day. The last day for change of schedule will be January 14.

Highlight of the winter quarter will be the Annual Bible Lectureship January 12-16.

Lynda Flippen Reigns As Queen Of Homecoming

Reigning as the 1957 Homecoming Queen of Freed-Hardeman College is Lynda Flippen, a brown-haired sophomore from Lebanon, Tennessee. Lynda's coronation occurred during the preliminaries to the homecoming game between F.H.C. and David Lipscomb College on Thanksgiving Day.

Her Majesty's attendants are Shelva Chowning of Florence, Alabama; Mary Rawls of Warren, Michigan; Dorothy Allen of Poplar Bluff, Missouri; and Hilda Smith of Tusculum, Alabama. Barbara and Becky Miller, twin daughters of Brother and Sister Orlan Miller, carried the crown and a bouquet of roses for the Queen.

Captain of the basketball team, Bubba Hill, crowned the Queen and presented her with a bouquet of red roses. The escorts for the Queen's attendants were as follows: Shelva Chowning, Wayne Adkins; Mary Rawls, Jim Clary; Dorothy Allen, Robert Fields and Hilda Smith, Pete Beecham.

Student Council
Calvin Conn, president of the Student Council, welcomed the spectators and announced the preliminaries and the coronation. Student Council sponsored the homecoming queen's coronation this year.

Orlan Miller Is Planning To Leave

Orlan Miller, former chairman of Freed-Hardeman's speech department will leave FHC as of January the first. This will enable him to do graduate work at the University of Alabama.

He graduated from Freed-Hardeman in 1948 and then from Abilene Christian College in 1950. He then attended the University of Alabama, where he majored in speech.

Miller came to FHC in September of 1956 to start the present speech department.

Met Wife

He met his wife Margery Miller in Little Rock, Arkansas, where they both went to high school. She also attended FHC. They now have four children.

Miller plans to move his family to Baton Rouge, Alabama, and preach for the local church of Christ during the approximate two years he will be in school.

His Departure

Concerning his departure Miller stated, "The years spent on the campus of Freed-Hardeman

The Freed-Hardeman College Semi-Centennial Celebration got going with gusto with the big homecoming sendoff on November 28.

Alumni and friends of Freed-Hardeman College poured into Henderson with more than 2000 on hand for the festivities. Four alumni of the 1908 class of FHC were present.

George Gurganus spoke Wednesday night on "The Challenge of World Evangelism."

Pat Hardeman was principle speaker Thursday morning, discussing "50 Years of Christian

Cranford To Give Lecture Dec. 31

The beginning of the winter quarter will be highlighted by a lecture by L. E. Cranford of Nashville, Tennessee, at the church of Christ of Henderson at 7:30 December 31.

Drawing from his personal experiences, Cranford will speak on the possibilities of mission work in Russia and Poland.

A minister of the University church of Christ in Nashville, Cranford was a member of a group touring Russia and Poland this past summer.

College are among the happiest moments of my life. I am leaving at this time to do further graduate study in my field, which will better qualify me in the work of Christian education. Serving with this outstanding Christian faculty and working with these splendid boys and girls are experiences never to be forgotten."

In his work at Freed-Hardeman College Miller has taken the initiative in many new developments. Among these are an inter-collegiate debate team and a yearly intramural speech tournament.

Education." He pointed out lessons to be drawn from the 50 years, warnings from the past 50 years, and admonitions for the next 50 years.

79 alumni sang together in the Alumni Chorus under the direction of Kelly Doyle.

Overflow crowds filled the Chester County High School gym for the crowning of the queen and the basketball tilt between FHC and David Lipscomb College.

More crowds gathered for the reception in the college cafeteria and later for the big fireworks display sponsored by the sophomore class.

The night session with entertainment by the college chorus rounded out the formal Thanksgiving activities.

The chapel program Friday morning, attended by several hundred visitors, was presented by the Philo Society and continued the spirit of celebration.

Centennial activities will continue throughout the year, with another highlight coming up in April. Cedric Foster, national news commentator, will visit the campus as guest of the college.

Bob Bell of the Nashville Banner and Helen Sharron of the Commercial Appeal visited the campus last month.

Whittle, Gardner Appear On TV

On November 25, J. Walker Whittle, chairman of the FHC Semi-Centennial Steering Committee, and E. Claude Gardner, dean, were interviewed by Russ Honeyman over WDXI television.

The program was at 10:00 p.m. during Honeyman's regular newscast from Jackson, Tennessee. Questions and answers concerned Freed-Hardeman College's Semi-Centennial Celebration.

A brief history of the college was given, and the present record enrollment and future plans were discussed. Other main points covered were the activities scheduled throughout the celebration year and specific events planned for Homecoming.

Banquet Climaxes Speech Tourney; Winners Named

The second annual Freed-Hardeman College Intramural Speech Tournament was held November 11-15, 1957. The winners were announced at a banquet given in the school cafeteria on November 19, at 6:15 p.m.

The winners were as follows: Women's Bible Reading, Arlene Hogan; Men's Bible Reading, John Harris; Men's Poetry Reading, Bob Fulmer; Women's Poetry Reading, Arlene Hogan; Men's Extemp, Wayne Emmons; Men's Radio, Dan Thompson; Women's Radio, Sandra Fellic; Men's After Dinner Speaking, Bob Fulmer; Women's After Dinner Speaking, Dottie Greer; Dramatic Monologue, Dottie Greer; Men's Dramatic Monologue, Bob Fulmer; Original Orator, K. R. Jhin; Men's Debate, Emmons and Fulford.

1958 Lectures To Feature Workshop

With the coming of the Annual Bible Lectureship January 12th, an entirely new feature will be presented . . . the Workshop for Bible Teachers.

Realizing the importance of teaching young people the Bible in the most effective way possible, lectureship directors have set aside two hours each day for this particular program.

Brad Brumley has planned the first hour of the Workshop to be a general session with panel discussions and demonstrations of audio visual aids.

The second hour of the Workshop there will be four different classes offered.

Miss Lora Laycock will be in charge of pre-school demonstrations. Mrs. Betty Brumley will teach those interested in primary work. Mrs. Olan Hicks will teach the class concerned with the junior age. Brad Brumley will teach the class for teen-age and adults.

Graduating Class Adopts Ring

For the first time in the history of Freed-Hardeman College, the graduating class has adopted a class ring.

The ring selected has a red, oval-shaped stone and bears the American seal on one side and a lion on the other. A pin in the same design was chosen by a number of the class.

A representative from the White Star Company, from which the rings were purchased, was on campus November 18 to take the ring sizes.

The rings are expected to be ready early in February.

Honor Society Plans Formal Invitations

The Alpha Gamma Delta plans to write formal invitations for the freshmen who will be eligible for membership in the winter quarter.

The committee appointed to write the invitations includes Shirley Ann Hysmith, Janice McCoy and David Williams.

Alpha Gamma Delta members served as hosts and hostesses at the box lunch provided in the cafeteria Homecoming Day, November 28.

WHICH GIRL BECAME QUEEN?

Queen Lynda and her royal court are shown above discussing plans for Homecoming. Everyone was kept guessing, "Which girl will be Queen?" All paid tribute to Lynda Flippen when she was crowned 1957-58 FHC Homecoming Queen. Her court included Mary Rawls, Shelva Chowning, Dot Allen and Hilda Smith.

Premature But Genuine

In the very near future everyone will be wishing everyone else Merry Christmas. Although it is a little premature, the Sky Rocket staff and sponsor want to wish all of you the very merriest of Christmases!

With exams awaiting us next week, it is hard to think of home, presents, and Santa Claus. Instead of "visions of sugar-plums" dancing in our heads, it is more like nightmares of Chaucer, Boyle's Law and who discovered America.

But Wednesday all this will be put behind us. Then we can look back over the quarter and see the many mistakes we made and resolve to do better next quarter. Which brings us logically to New Year's resolutions . . .

Since we have already had time to contemplate our mistakes of this year, we wish to proclaim here and now our intentions of doing better, if possible. Anyway, we plan to put forth more effort and try to profit from our blunders already exposed before the public.

Hurrah For Thespians!

Hurrah for the Thespians! And bless their hearts for a refreshing comedy without slapstick!

The almost entirely freshman cast did themselves proud by really and truly holding character all the way through to final curtain. (Will somebody please tell Fulmer that he does not have a scarred face? We think he was convinced.)

Thank you, and please come again with another production with standards just as high.

Teaching The Bible For Half A Century

By Alan Highers

The name of Freed-Hardeman College is almost in itself a synonym for sound Bible teaching. Even among the senior colleges conducted by members of the church of Christ, not a one has a Bible department whose reputation exceeds ours, and few, if any, can equal it! This salient fact is, in a large measure, responsible for the continued success of this school.

What has made this outstanding reputation for our Bible work? To arrive at an accurate answer to that question, we need to look back to the men who were co-founders of this institution which now bears their names—Arvy Glenn Freed and Nicholas Brodie Hardeman.

A. G. Freed

Bro. A. G. Freed was widely recognized as a thorough Bible scholar, an excellent teacher and a debater of no mean ability. At the news of his death, the beloved H. Leo Boles wrote, "Brother Freed was an educated, Christian gentleman. He was gentle in nature; he had a poetic nature; he loved poetry and music. He was humble and kind; few could excel him in gentleness and kindness. It seems that he was a very Chesterfield in courtesy."

N. B. Hardeman

N. B. Hardeman was especially known for his ability as a teacher of God's word and his powerful eloquence as a speaker. He conducted several Tabernacle Meetings in the Ryman Auditorium at Nashville, Tennessee, with as many as ten thousand attending some sessions. One needs only to read his published works to observe the great respect brother Hardeman held for the Bible.

A. G. Freed passed away November 11, 1931. N. B. Hardeman is still living, making his home in Memphis, Tennessee, and is still quite active in preaching the gospel.

Owe A Debt

We owe a debt of THANKSGIVING to these, our worthy predecessors, whose labors have helped to make our Bible instruction what it is.

But we cannot thrive on their labors alone. That is why today, as ever, the Bible is stressed at Freed-Hardeman College as the infallible, inerrant word of God!

Offbeat--

After his famous "Grocery Sack" chapel speech, Atnip took his sack on down to faculty meeting with him. As soon as the meeting broke up, Buckley made a pounce for the sack and opened it up. Witt, Brown and Doyle also crowded in for a look. They found . . . a beat up aluminum pan, a glass half gallon jar, many assorted paper back books, and sure enough, a dab of melted ice cream.

****

Miss Lora instructed her Bible class of small children to pretend that the floor was a pool of water, and for all of them to lift their feet so they would not get them wet. One little boy on the front row said, "But Miss Lora, you are standing in it!"

****

Coach Stewart sent Roger Hubbard into the game one night to replace Bailey. After running to every man on the floor and not finding Bailey, Hubbard gave up. Say Coach, don't you know FHC doesn't even have a Bailey on its team?

****

There is an outer spaceman on FHC's team this year! At least someone was yelling for Sputnik at a game one night.

****

Never underestimate the vocabulary of W. Claude Hall. Since his recent chapel talk, Cupid is not cupid anymore, he is Alnico.

****

Overheard after this speech. "Boy, Mary you must have swallowed a whole brick of that stuff!"

****

Say George Cooper, we are all wondering why you came to the cafeteria one evening for supper with your bedroom slippers on instead of shoes!

Philos Stage

'Romeo and Juliet'

The Philomathean Society had charge of the special chapel program on November 29, the day after Homecoming. For this special occasion the Philos presented a modern version of Romeo and Juliet.

The officers elected for the latter part of the fall quarter are Arthur Garner, president; Philip Steyn and Johnny Tork, co-vice-presidents; Sylvia Johnson, program chairman; and Janice McCoy, secretary.

First Place Won
By Alpha Taus In
Stunt Night

The Alpha Tau Lambda society won first place honors at the annual stunt night program with their skit "Bus Trip."

Second place went to Phi Kappa society who portrayed a history class in a negro classroom, and third place went to the tumbling club for their exhibition in tumbling.

Other skits included "Lazy Bones" by the Philos, "Cheering the Sick" by the Girls' Religious Training Class and "Rheumatism" by the Matrons.

Bob Fulmer was master of ceremonies. The college Quartet and "Pop" Band presented music before the program and during intermission.

1956-57 Annual Rates First Class

As judged by the Associated Collegiate Press, the 1956-57 TREASURE CHEST has received a rating of first class in its division, according to information given by Mrs. Ruth Campbell, faculty advisor to the TREASURE CHEST.

There were also enough extra points to have rated it first class in competition with even larger schools.

The 1956-57 editor was Margaret Rose, now Mrs. Bob Langston of Illinois. Several members of her staff are now working on the Golden Anniversary Edition of THE TREASURE CHEST to be published in May, 1958.

80 Is Enrollment
Of Preachers Club

Over eighty of the preacher students at FHC are enrolled in the Preachers' Club.

The purpose of the Preachers' Club is to teach young preachers more about the Bible, Christian life, and the preaching of the gospel. Through this club many have gained experience and knowledge that have helped them throughout their lives.

The officers for the latter part of the fall quarter have been Ken Bray, president; Lee Beckett, vice-president; and Bailey Harris, sergeant-at-arms. The sponsor is Claude Hall.

New Sound On Campus Comes
From Pop Band

By Ann Burgess
New sound on campus these days is the Pop Band.

Under the direction of Phil Evanson the band has been in frequent demand for both student and faculty functions.

Organized just this year by Evanson, the band has 13 members. Trombones; Phillips, Simon, Summers and Craft. Trumpets, Burkley, Counce and Potts. Saxophones; Williams, Smith, Phillips and Carter. Drum, Greer; Piano, Smith.

Eight of the members use their own instruments. A concert is tentatively planned for next quarter to help finance more and better equipment. Drummer Greer has been forced to aim carefully with her drumsticks in order to avoid imbedding a stick in the rip in the top of the drum.

Evanson, who has had instruction in 4 instruments and plays 7, says that the band's biggest problem is finding a time and a place to practice.

Psychology Class
Visit Hospital

"One half of all the hospital beds in the United States are occupied by the mentally ill," states Fred Hessler, Director of Adjunctive Therapy of Western State Mental Hospital in Henderson, Tennessee.

On November 14, the psychology class of Freed-Hardeman College, under the direction of Brad Brumley, visited Western State Hospital.

Members of the class heard a lecture by Mr. Hessler on mental illness and its treatment.

A complete tour of the new intensive treatment building was made by the group. The new building, erected and fully equipped at a cost of two million dollars, was dedicated by Frank G. Clement, Governor of Tennessee, on December 2, 1957.

Religious Debates
Set Each Thursday

Because of the intense interest in religious debating, the Religious Debate Club has been permitted, for the first time, to meet every Thursday evening.

The purpose of the club is to increase the speaking and reasoning abilities of those interested in the field of polemics.

G. K. Wallace and George Gurganus serve as co-sponsors of the club.

Sahli Speaks
To Student NEA

On November 15, Dr. Don Sahli, director of public relations for the Tennessee Education Association, spoke to the Student NEA and the General Education classes about some phases of the education field.

Membership in the Student NEA has reached thirty-seven. The members pay dues of three dollars per year, which includes subscriptions to two monthly magazines—NEA and TENNESSEE TEACHER.

FHC'ers, Visitors
View Fire Works

A thirty minute display of fireworks were shown at Freed-Hardeman at 8:15 on Thursday, November 28. The beautiful ground pieces were of Niagara Falls, a jeweled fan, a peacock tail, Girandola, a crazy wheel and the big spectacular was the firework spelling FHC 1908-1958. At the close "goodnight" was spelled by fireworks.

There were seventy-nine aerial bombs of assorted varieties shown.

Hodges' Podges

By Jo Ann

Congratulations to the tumbling club for the fine performance they presented during the half-time of the FHC and DLC basketball game here Thanksgiving.

Also, a round of applause should be given to Bob Fulmer for the excellent job he did as master of ceremonies for Stunt Night.

And while praise is being given, some should go to Harry Campbell for procuring the the sign "Our 50th Year" that is now hanging in chapel hall. It seems to add an extra-special touch to our semi-centennial celebration.

Recently a professor of freshman English asked one poor, frustrated frosh what three words are used most among the college students.

"I don't know," said the student.

"Correct," replied the professor.

Dotty Greer was wondering the other day what FHC students would wear if it weren't for the "Ivy League" style. Everyone has heard the statement, "Go West young man!" Well, Dot says out west they are adorned with "buttons and bows." But meanwhile, back in Tennessee in the halls of FHC . . . it's "buckles and stripes". The back of shoes, striped skirts, striped collars, striped trousers and even socks are tagged with the latest style in buckles. From cap to shoe, we're "Ivy League" all the way!

'Savage' Presented Here December 3

"The Curious Savage," fall presentation of the Freed-Hardeman College Thespians was presented before a near capacity audience on December 3.

Several freshmen made their college debut in this three-act comedy. Mrs. Phillip Evanson also made her debut as a director in her first FHC production.

The action took place in "The Cloisters", an exclusive home for the mentally ill. J. F. Wiles was the doctor in charge of the institution and Judy McKenzie was his attractive secretary.

"Guests" included Florence, a gentle, eager to please woman of 28, portrayed by Anetta Rowlett, Betty Enoch as Fairy, the most verbose of the guests. Jeffrey, who quietly brooded over an imaginary scar which he attempted to hide, was played by Bob Fulmer, and Phil Hall was the cherubic violin artist.

The Savage family was composed of Titus, an eccentric Senator, played by J. P. Simon, his equally eccentric brother, Judge Samuel Savage with K. R. Jhin doing the impersonation, their chic sophisticated sister, Lily Belle, portrayed by Betty Fox and Claudette Patton as their mother, Ethel, the curious Savage.

The Thespians have invited Mrs. Jim Harwell of Henderson, drama major from the University of North Carolina, to give helpful criticism to its members concerning the production.

JOURNALISM TO BE OFFERED IN WINTER TERM

Any student interested in taking Journalism can enroll for their beginning Journalism winter quarter E. Claude Gardner, Dean, announced last week.

This course is designed to be especially practical for preacher students as well as those interested in some phase of journalism as a possible career.

Many preachers are expected to write and make up their "church bulletin", contribute articles to various papers and magazines, write their own scripts for radio and television, write articles for newspapers, compile information for tracts, and write many understandable letters.

They can do these many jobs more effectively if they have had training which will help them to express their ideas in a readable, concise way.

"If you ever expect to write any articles for a bulletin, the newspaper, a religious paper, or letters which people can understand readily, make preparation to take this course," states W. Claude Hall.

Journalism classes will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:40.

You Think 15 Lines Is Bad? Mrs. Brumley Learned 15 PAGES

Mrs. Brad Brumley, new FHC English teacher, states that she acquired her first large taste of English literature at Arkansas's Rector High when she memorized the first fifteen pages of the "Prologue to the Canterbury Tales." The motivation for this accomplishment was a bit unusual, but very effective.

"The superintendent suspected me of having attended a football game at Blytheville the afternoon before in preference to his algebra class. When he asked point blank, 'Where were you yesterday afternoon?', I mumbled, 'I don't exactly remember sir.' Feeling that I needed some memory training, he snatched a book from his desk, pointed to 'Whan that Aprille...' and said, 'Learn that!'"

Mrs. Brumley was so impressed with this event that she was still able to quote several pages of Chaucer at Harding almost twenty years later. Acquired Husband

Mrs. Brumley went from Rector High to Murray State College. "The most valuable thing I acquired during my two years at Murray was a good husband," she commented.

Concerning the past several years, she said, "Most of my time has been consumed trying to keep pace with Brad. First I taught school with him as boss. Then when he was teaching instrument flying in the Air Force, I hurriedly qualified for Civil Service and worked on the fields where he was stationed 'to keep him from getting hurt in one of those things.'"

When he returned to Rector and went into business, she kept his books, in a "state of confusion that even baffled the income tax experts."

To Harding

She returned to Harding College in the spring of 1956. Between February of 1956 and September of 1957 she worked off a Bachelor's cum laude and a Master's with a 3.9 average. She explained her one "B" by asking "Did you ever try to make speeches before ten preachers and a ph.D.?"

But all this time the Brumleys shared an ambition—to return to the classroom. The fall quarter of 1957 saw the fulfillment of that ambition when they became teachers at FHC.

When asked about her accomplishments, she thought a minute and then pointed to her husband and their daughter, Susan, age 6. However, her Harding College ring bore an Alpha Chi (National Honor Society) Emblem. She modestly insisted that "anybody can do that."

She did seem eager to talk about a workbook she is preparing for publication. It pictures a method of teaching children the Bible by means of charcoal drawings.

To prove that "anybody can do that," she had her six year old daughter give a short demonstration.

Ike Roland Now Serves As A Supervisor Of Students

One might say that "supervisor" has been a key word in Ike Roland's life. He has been supervisor of boys' camps, milk routes, maintenance crews, and now, chemistry students.

Mr. Roland, who is teaching chemistry at Freed-Hardeman College this year, is a native of Henderson, Tennessee. He attended both Chester County

High School and Freed-Hardeman College.

B. S. In Chemistry

After graduating from Freed-Hardeman in 1949, he went to Union University. There he majored in chemistry and received his B. S. Degree in 1952.

He enlisted in the Air Force when the Korean War began. He lacked one semester finishing college, but he was allowed to come home and finish under what is called "Operation Boot-strap."

He was in the Air Force for four years, one of which was spent in Korea during the latter part of the conflict. He was in charge of the maintenance crew of the 95th Bomb Squad.

Homemakers Have Frosh Initiation

On November 5, the Homemakers Club held the freshman initiation. Those initiated wore H-shaped pins and carried lighted candles which represented the light of a homemaker. After the initiation punch and cookies were served.

At a night meeting on November 12, Mrs. McPherson, the guest of honor, gave a demonstration on Beauty Counselor Cosmetics.

Mrs. Bill Lambert has been elected co-sponsor for this year.

Club members continue to sell sandwiches in the girls' dormitory on Wednesday nights and in the boys' dormitory on Thursday nights.

FHC Lions Fall To DL Bisons In Thriller

The Lions of FHC fell to the Bisons of David Lipscomb 76 to 72 in the homecoming spectacular before a packed house. It was an enthusiastic crowd of FHC followers that watched the Lions play undoubtedly their best game of the season only to be beaten by a fast moving Bison ball club.

At one point in the first half the Lions trailed by nineteen points but led by captain Bubba Hill, who scored eight quick points, the team trailed by only nine points at half time.

In the second half the Lions began to hit the cords with greater accuracy and with 1:59 left to be played trailed by only two points.

Bubba Hill, who time and time again stole the ball to make a Bison pass a FHC goal, led his team with twenty-seven markers. Next in scoring came consistent Benny Riley with eighteen.

Playing a great defensive game were Pete Beecham and Roger Hubbard who scored thirteen and eight points respectively.

The scoring for David Lipscomb was as follows: Brannon had eighteen points closely followed by Hall with fifteen and Metcalf with eleven.

The Lions have gotten off to a slow start this season losing their first three contests before beating a highly touted Itawamba team. Since then they have lost to U.T.M.B., Itawamba and

The All-Stars, who were defeated by the Philos on November 27 6-0, are pictured left to right: Karl Stakley (Phi Kappa), George Bessent (Phi Kappa), Ken Bray (Phi Kappa), Eddie Haycraft (Alpha Tau), and Jerry Bogle (Alpha Tau). In the backfield are: Jim Sentell (Sigma Rho), W. C. Ausburn (Alpha Tau), Bill Doss (Sigma Rho) and Jay Lockhart (Sigma Rho).

Lipscomb, but showed in the homecoming game that they can and will win many more games before the seasons end.

Dixon, Gardner Go To Richmond

H. A. Dixon, president and E. Claude Gardner, dean, went to Richmond, Virginia, for the regular Southern Association meeting on December 2.

Dixon and Gardner were not required to go before the screening committee this year since the committee had examined the reports and found them satisfactory.

According to Donald C. Agnew, Executive Secretary of the Southern Association, they will not have to go before the screening committee for three years.

Philos Down All-Stars 6-0

The Philo Society, winners of the regular intramural football season, beat the All-Stars 6-0 in a game played on November 27.

The Philos, led by quarterback George Dumas, pushed over the only touchdown of the game late in the third quarter. The All-Stars were never able to overcome the lead.

Although the Philos lost two regular season contests, they showed they were truly champions by playing nearly perfect ball.

The All-Stars only threatened one time by moving to the Philo ten yard line in the second half. This threat was stopped as Arthur Garner intercepted a Jay Lockhart pass which started the Philo touchdown drive.
