FREED-HARDEMAN COLLEGE HENDERSON, TENNESSEE

OCTOBER 3, 1960

Sue Harvick Secretary Student Council

Sue Harvick, a talented sophomore from Villa Ridge, Illinois, is FHC's student council secretary.

Sue, who is majoring in physical education and minoring in music, is replacing Jo Ann Stark, who was unable to return this year.

As a member of the Alpha Taus, S. N. E. A., Music Club, PEM Club, and chorus, our new secretary leads an active student life. She excels in all types of sports on the campus.

Upon being asked how she felt about being elected as student council secretary, Sue said: "I would like to thank the student body for their vote of confidence in me. I will strive to serve them to the best of my ability."

In the close run-off for secretary was Janice Snyder, a Sophomore from Memphis.

Other student council members are Jerry Butler, from Paul Grey Hall, Terry Burton from Brigrance Hall, Jewel Goodman from Hall-Roland Hall, Janice Snyder from Dixon Hall. From the Freshman class, Carole Evans and Paul King were chosen as representatives. Representing the Sophomores are Sherri Martin and Jack Williams. From the third year class Harold Neal was chosen and the day students elected Janice Patrick and Bill Oakley as their representatives.

Fathers And Daughters

Among the five hundred students attending Freed-Hardeman are Arch Jarrett and his daughter, Vernice, and Roy Wilson and his daughter, Barbara.

Mr. Jarrett commutes from Erin, Tennessee, where he preaches for the Erin Church of Christ. He is an education major.

Vernice Jarrett graduated from Georgia Christian Institute at Valdosta where she was valedictorian of her class. As a result of her achievement, Vernice was granted a scholarship to Freed-Hardeman and is taking a pre-nursing course.

Roy Wilson and family have just returned from Morocco, where he was stationed with the U. S. Navy. He is taking a course in law.

Barbara Wilson graduated this spring from Thomas Mack Wilhoit High School in Morocco. She is majoring in foreign languages.

PKA Take Trophy

The Phi Kappa Society was awarded the trophy for the 1959-60 spring semester in FHC's opening ceremony.

This award was presented to Dowell Platt, president of the Phi Kappas, by trophy committee chairman, John Paul Simon.

The point system used by the committee was divided into six divisions. The Phi Kappas had the highest point average with 97½ points. Following were the Philos with 72½ points, Sigma Rhos with 70 points, and the Alpha Taus with 60 points.

Treasure Chest Talent Show

The Treasure Chest Staff is planning a Talent Show on Thursday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 P.M. for the purpose of raising money for this year.

The schedule of tryouts, rehearsals, and prizes will be announced at a later date.

Lawhorn Dedication Ceremony

The W. F. Lawhorn library dedication ceremony was held on the library lawn September 22, with the FHC student body and advisory board present.

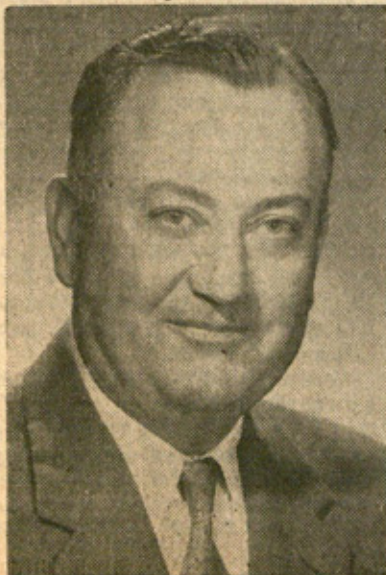

President H. A. Dixon gave a brief history of Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn's connection with FHC.

The Lawhorns, from Temple, Texas, became associated with the college through their friendship with two of our teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott.

Recently they underwrote the new addition of what will soon be known as the W. F. Lawhorn Library, honoring both Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn. The 1956 building, called Lawhorn-Stephens Library, was also underwritten by them.

Mr. Lawhorn, in acknowledging President Dixon's remarks, said: "When this is paid for we hope we can help FHC with something else."

After the introduction of Mrs. Lawhorn, Charles E. Wilson, a board member, expressed the benediction. The FHC chorus concluded the program by softly singing "May the Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Enrollment Record Broken 504 Students Register At FHC

Eugenia Proffitt registers with the help of Dean Gardner and student and advisor, Linda Dean.

More than five hundred students from 24 states and 4 foreign countries, have enrolled in Freed-Hardeman College for the 1960-61 fall semester, breaking all previous enrollment records.

Transcended is last year's record enrollment of 455 collegians.

The half-thousand enrollment is the culmination of efforts of the Freed-Hardeman public relations department, which had set a goal of 500 new FHC students.

Eugenia Proffitt, of Orlando, Florida, broke the enrollment record in being the 456th student to register. Miss Proffitt, a student of David Lipscomb College, last year, is an education major.

Never before in the annals of Freed-Hardeman history, extending over a half century, has its student body numbered more than 500 college students. The new enrollment of FHC presages a time of further marked growth in the plant and staff of the college. Currently, an increased faculty of 37 instructs the 504 students.

Of the number enrolled, 276 are young men and 228 are young women. This gives FHC a 54.8 percent male and 45.2 percent female enrollment.

There are 111 Bible majors enrolled, 117 education majors, 62 liberal arts majors, 20 home economics majors, 21 pre-engineering majors, 19 physical education, and 12 pre-pharmacy majors. The remainder of the number of students enrolled are majoring in pre-professional areas, music, and science.

English Mission Worker

Len Channing, outstanding evangelist from Aylesburg, England, will give a special lecture on the mission work in that area, October 4 at the Henderson Church of Christ.

Mr. Channing will speak the following morning in the Chapel exercise.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEET

Black Opens 52nd Session

R. E. Black of Maury City addressed FHC's record-breaking student body and faculty in opening ceremonies held in the Henderson Church of Christ September 9.

Mr. Black an FHC advisory board member has been Maury County Superintendent of Education for the past twelve years.

This Tennessee educator delivered an advice-packed lecture filled with analogous bits of humor. He stressed educational ideals and presented some deep insights into evaluation of self.

After this address, the Phi Kappas were presented the Social Club trophy and the scholarship award was given to Charles White, the freshman last year with the highest scholastic average.

Purchase An Annual Yet?

What is this magnetic force which allures pen-bearing students in to the sunny quad during those last few school weeks? It is nothing less than the arrival of the Treasure Chest, our FHC annual storehouse of memories.

The FHC Board of Directors met September 22 for a called meeting to approve the year's budget.

This committee is composed of T. Billingsley, R. E. Black, J. B. Burton, H. T. Dowkins, Kay Edwards, Avery Fike, Denton Fly, Robert Hardeman, R. G. Hibbett, Sr., Paul D. Randolph, J. Clyde Shacklett, J. A. Ward, Horrace Warren, and Charles B. Wilson.

R. E. Black is president of the board, and J. Clyde Shacklett is vice-president. J. A. Ward, who had served as secretary-treasurer for over thirty years, resigned from the position at this meeting, but still continues on the board.

Two members were absent from this meeting because of illness. They were T. Billingsley, from Memphis, Tenn., and Avery Fike from Jasper, Alabama.

Some students are prone to forget all about annuals until everyone else begins autograph-seeking. This pre-graduation day heartbreak can be avoided by purchasing an annual early from Ollan Holliday, Hope Barnett and Kay Timberlake.

Henderson Observes Centennial

The home of Freed-Hardeman looks back on one hundred years of progress, October 15-21, celebrating its centennial with pomp and pageantry.

It was in 1860 that settlers first built homes in the community that was destined to become the bustling county seat of Henderson, Chester County, Tennessee. From this recent settlement, hard by the tracks of the newly-built Mobile and Ohio railroad, the village leaped to prosperity as the Space Age, one hundred years later spurred industry and commerce into action. Today, 3,000 people make Henderson their home.

A fun-filled week is planned for one and all. A beauty race has attracted possibly the widest attention, with almost fifty entries in the competition. A kangaroo court will be called into session and will mete out "punishment." Sunday, other events will lure countless people interested in Henderson and its stellar constellation of Centennial attractions.

The Centennial headquarters last week extended an invitation to the student body and staff of Freed-Hardeman College to attend the festivities of the big birthday week.

EDITORIAL

Unknown Celebrities

In another quiet, unenthusiastic manner, FHC freshmen, sophomores, and third year students have selected their class leaders for the year.

Although the method of election used may not seem best, competent students were chosen for these offices. However, the whole affair seems to have been carried out in a manner that brought a minimum of prestige to those selected.

During the elections, students voted because an election was being held—with no thoughts further. Many did not know the candidate for whom they cast their votes in the split-second decision they were forced to make.

Class officer selection could well be one of the big moments of the year. It would not be out of order to stage a campaign for such a position. Students would have more time to think the matter over if candidates were formally introduced in the chapel exercise a few days before the election. Prestige would be added to the officers elected and student interest would swell.

This idea is not an original one. Student body members were discussing it in the cafeteria recently. As a student, what do you think of the idea of allowing a few days' campaign time between officer nomination and their actual selection? Voice your opinion in a letter to the editor in our next Sky Rocket issue.

Faculty Stars In Orbit

The Sky Rocket staff has decided to keep up with the fast-growing times. It seems that honor should be paid to whom honor is due.

The student body is the medium through which this honor is to be paid.

Fill out this ballot and place it in the ballot box located in the student center for this purpose.

Please use discretion in making your selections so that this survey will be representative of your opinions.

Be A Star

by Jimmy Miller

College students usually have great ambitions to ascend to the top in a particular field. Each of our public entertainers seeks to become the greatest star that has ever lived: a star that will be seen by many and recognized wherever he goes. Christians must ever seek to be the stars or guiding lights for the whole world, not concerned about praise from man, but ever determined to let their lives be guiding lights from earth to heaven.

In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus told his disciples, "Ye are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid" (Matt. 5:14). Christians can be stars to the world, just as a city that is set on a high peak can be seen for miles. After telling his disciples that they were the light of the world he told them, "Even so let your light so shine before men; that they may see your good works and glorify your father who is in heaven" (Matt. 5:16). Christians must seek to walk in paths that will lead many to Christ, always remembering the words of the Apostle Paul, "It is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me" (Gal. 2:20).

The statement that "we preach a sermon a day by the things we do and the things we say," is very true and every Christian on this campus must realize that the sermon we preach must be a guiding light for our fellow-students.

Nancy's Space Fillers

I know that you are going to ask, so I'll just tell you. This column is called "Space Fillers" because that is exactly what it is—a space filler.

School has started for real now, and I suppose everyone is straightened out. Well, almost everybody—I met Sam Miller the other day and he had a most disgusted look on his face. His only comment was: "It happened for the third time today. I went to my class and once again, there was no class."

Sam isn't the only freshman that's confused. Mike Burrus was trying to explain who one of his teachers is. This is the way he did it: "You know, Blunderbottom." Could he mean you, Wendell Bloomingburg?

You basketball players had better watch out—there's a cute redhead around here who's watching you. After surveying the girls in action she said, "I can see right now we're going to have to fight like dogs for one tall, skinny basketball player." Good luck, Joan, you'll need it.

Before this year is over Mr. Williams' hair (I use the term loosely) will be a lovely platinum blond. He had a terrible time explaining "paradox" to Cliff Bennett. Cliff just knew it meant two doctors.

We really have some of the nicest men on our faculty. Remember when the freshmen were sweeping balloons around the quad? For some strange reason Mr. Bloomingburg told me that I should be particularly good at this game. I must have looked puzzled because he hastened (and I do mean hastened) to explain: "All the pictures I ever saw of witches, they had brooms."

You might wonder about the I.Q. of some of our basketball players, but there's one you don't need to wonder about—eBunny Horton. When somebody (like, who?) mentioned he had gotten a haircut, he was quick to reply, "That ain't nothing, I got 'e mall cut!" That proves he's smart!

If some of our students were

MOUNT YOUR PEGASUS!

by Johnny Malone

An ancient tale in Greek mythology recounts the involved exploits of a winged horse, Pegasus, which gave rise to its association with poetic inspiration.

Therefore, today when a new writer begins penning poetry we say that he is "mounting his Pegasus." That is, he is just beginning to write verse because of his new-found "poetic inspiration."

I believe that among the scores of students here at Freed-Hardeman there is latent poetic ability—as well as prose talent. It is my wish, then, that you will "mount your Pegasus," and express yourself through poetry and prose.

By way of "Potpourri" you have an opportunity to do so, for it is the prime purpose of this department to see that the gold mine of literary talent on the campus be given an outlet to express itself.

By this time you know that to fall on their faces it would be a catastrophe. I know that toothpick (they're always chewing one) would come out the backside of their head. Maybe the price of chewing gum is too high. Then again, the toothpick could be what's holding the mouth open. Believe me, it would be a relief if some of those were shut.

Linda Dean was listing her credentials for something the other day. Among them was this startling note: Linda Dean—relative of Dean Beard and Dean Gardner." Preparing to see Dean Hearn, maybe?

Joyce Bailey and Sherra Martin really received quite a shock concerning one of their "little sisters." How were they to know that Ragene Coulday was a boy? Even the administration did not know—they assigned him to the girls' dorm.

Remember Dean Hearn's chapel speech when he asked, "If you had $10,000 what would you do?" At least one student had an answer prepared—Wayne Kilpatrick said, "Hire a new Dean of Students!"

According to president Elmer Howell the SNEA is going to keep the old school rockin' and rollin' this year. But according to Brad Brumley it may do even more. When trying to persuade us to pick cotton his best selthis will be a literary column. We will feature poetry, short prose works, and other similar contributions from you, dear reader.

But, in a sense, it will also be a public affairs forum. Students will be interviewed and views on current topics aired.

From time to time, "Potpourri" will be "On the Book Eat" and list new arrivals on the shelves of Lawhorn Library.

Other times, we will talk to interesting campus personalities and try to give an incisive profile of these people.

"Potpourri" will certainly be a "mixture". And we think you are going to like it.

Dean Roy Hearn

Meet The New Dean Of Students

Relieving Mr. Robert L. Witt of the job of Dean of Students is Mr. Roy J. Hearn from Nashville, Tennessee.

Mr. Hearn has been on the David-Lipscomb Staff for several years. For the past three years, he has been making plans to work with FHC.

"The reason," President Dixon said, "that he desired to work with FHC is his appreciation of the way your rules are carried out."

At the Freshman Mixer, Mr. Hearn gave a delightful speech including information about himself and advice to both boys and girls.

His advice to the boys was in the form of a short poem effectively delivered.

When he reached the point for the advice to the girls, he touched the huge pair of mechanical false teeth he had placed on the speaker's stand, and started them chattering.

Mr. Hearn has expressed a desire to talk over any student problems. His office is located between the cafeteria and Hall-Roland Hall, where the offices of J. Walker Whittle and Harry Campbell were previously located. He told one girl who mistook him for Mr. Whittle that would forgive her of this mistake on the first offence because of the office situation.

Our new dean of students possesses keen understanding and sense of humor. Work with him looks as though it will be most pleasant.

ling point was, "You'd be surprised what you can do in cotton patch!" Mrs. Brumley must have known what he was talking about because you should have seen the shocking pink that she turned!

Just in case you're wondering—any reference to actual persons on this campus, either awake or asleep, is purely intentional! I leave you with the cheering thought that, like MacArthur, I shall return!

CLUB CORNER

Religious

by Carl Bates

FHC has long been known for its emphasis on Bible study, and is recognized as one of the best schools in which young men can prepare themselves to preach the gospel of Christ. This year, we have a record number of one hundred and eleven students enrolled as Bible majors. Scope for spiritual development is provided by the religious clubs on the campus.

The Preachers' Club, under the leadership of Mr. W. C. Hall, is off to a promising start. Peter Merrick is president and Billy Lawrence is sergeant-at-arms.

All are invited to hear Mr. Roy J. Hearn speak to the student body on "The Threat of Roman Catholicism" for a 4-night series. The club meets at 7:00 each Monday evening.

The Evangelistic Forum fills an all-important place on the campus by helping to prepare students to "evangelize the world" for Christ. The Forum had one hundred and five present for its first meeting as President Peter Merrick spoke on the work in New Zealand. Mr. Len Channing will speak in October on the work in England. Mr. Olan L. Hicks is sponsor and Ruby Peterson is secretary.

The club meets each Wednesday evening at 6:15.

The Religious Debate Club was at an all time high last year with ten or more debaters. It is off to an early start this year with Richard Judd and Leon Cole to discuss the subject, "The Possibility of Apostasy", Thursday, September 29, at 7 P.M. A debate is scheduled between Richard Judd and H. L. Butler on "Sprinkling for Baptism" in the near future. Messrs. Wallace and Bloomingburg are able leaders of the club with Mr. Hearn assisting. The club meets twice monthly at 7:00 p.m. Thursday.

The Girls Religious Training Class held their first organizational meeting in Dixon Hall to select officers for this semester.

Hope Barnett, the outgoing vice-president, presided over the meeting which resulted in the election of Norma Jean Harper, president, and Paula Van Eaton, vice-president. Linda Thornton was selected to report the club's activities.

The program committee will be made up of two girls from each dormitory and one girl from the day students.

Brother Charles R. Williams chose "On the Other Side of the Jericho Road" as his subject in Professional

Under the capable leadership of Elmer Howell, the S.N.E.A. began making plans for the coming year. These plans included the building of swings to add to the attractiveness of the F. H. C. campus, the purchasing of a movie screen for Chapel Hall, a resumption of the work at Western State Hospital on October 4, the Christmas party, the trip to Murfreesboro for the State Convention and to Memphis for the Cotton Carnival, and the Education Majors' banquet.

Brief plans were made for the Spaghetti Supper to be held on October 6 and various committee chairmen were appointed.

Our sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Brumley, decided that the best way to make money for the club and to educate the members was to go cotton pickin', which went over with a smashing success.

The Home Economics Club met with its sponsors, Reba Tucker and Ouida Landon, to elect officers for this year. Those chosen were: President, Opal Jeffreys; Vice President, Helen Todd; Secretary, Sandra Henry. The girls are planning many interesting and entertaining events for the coming semester.

Vivace, the F. H. C. Music Club had its initial meeting for the purpose of selecting their leaders. Ronnie Pounders was elected president; Pat Forgy, vice-president; and Sue Harvick, secretary. The club has also chosen a committee consisting of Sue Harvick, Ronnie Pounders, Bill Lawrence, and Carol Norman, for the purpose of drawing up a constitution.

During the first school week Phi Beta Lambda members met to make plans for a picnic to honor all prospective members. This picnic was held September 20 on the lawn of Mr. Willard Smith's beautiful home a few blocks from town.

Before the activities of the evening were concluded, James

This year's training class is the largest in its history. Miss Lora Laycock and Mrs. Lon Harde- man will be guiding the girls in the meetings on alternate Monday nights.

Social

The Social Clubs elected their officers and sponsors for the coming semester.

The Philos elected Dexter Sammons, president; Elmer Howell, first vice-president; Nancy Strasser and Norma Harper, second vice-presidents; Patti Watkins, secretary; and Duane Law and Joyce Henderson, sports captains. Mr. Whittle was reinstated sponsor.

The Sigma Rhos elected Dean Beard, president; Roger Coffman, vice president; Charlotte Root, secretary; and Gerald Clark and Genevieve Burroughs, sports captains. Wendell Bloomingburg is the Sigma Rho sponsor.

Tom Harris was elected Alpha Tau president; Charles Hanson, vice president; Sue Harvick, secretary, and Gary White and Sue Harvick, sports captains. Mr. William Woodson was selected as sponsor.

The trophy-winning Phi Kappas elected Dowell Platt, president; Terry Burton, vice president; Sandra Fields, secretary; and Helen Todd and Cliff Bennett, sports captains. James Potts was selected as sponsor.

Phi Theta Kappa, our youngest campus organization, closed last semester with a spaghetti supper in the Home Economics house. A report on the national convention was given at that time.

The Phi Theta Kappa convention was held in San Antonio, Texas, near the end of the semester last spring. Hope Barnett and Ruby Peterson were sent by the Kappa Upsilon chapter to represent FHC. Dexter and Bonnie Sammons provided transportation and a room for them at their home there. Overlooking little things like four breakdowns along the road, they Willis, president introduced the other officers. Juanita Henry is secretary and Velma Harrison is treasurer.

A candy selling committee and a membership committee was appointed to help carry out the aims of the club.

The Science Club met September 27 and elected officers for the coming year. Shearal Wigginton will lead the club as president. Other officers are: Joe Williams, vice-president; Janis Coke, secretary-treasurer, and Marilyn Karnes, reporter.

The club is starting its program with a picnic at Chickasaw Park, October 11. Trips to museums, film strips, lectures, and fun will highlight the year's activities.

DEBATE SOCIETY GOING PLACES

The debate society, looking forward to even greater honors in the coming year, in its organizational meeting on September 22, placed the leadership in the hands of Jack Medlin as president, and Jerry Fulkerson, Dennis Bailey and Eddie Creghead serve as vice-president, secretary and sergeant-at-arms respectively. The society meets at 7:00 P. M. each Tuesday in Brigrance Hall.

The purpose of the organization is to offer its members, through diligent application, an opportunity to increase their public speaking proficiency, to gain skills in debating, and to instill in them the desire and ability to think objectively.

The subject to be debated this year is, "Resolved: That the United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens." Highlights for this debate season will be the society's participation in such events as: The Lipscomb, Harding, Freed-Hardeman Tournament to be held here on campus October 21-22; the Deep South Debate Tournament at Mississippi College on December 2-3; Millsap's Invitational Tournament in Jackson, Mississippi, January 13-14; the Tennessee Forensic Tournament at David Lipscomb College on February 9-11.

To enable the society to represent the college better at the various tournaments, present the school with a project, and demonstrate the effectiveness of debate even more this year, the members decided to produce an LP record album of excerpts of outstanding events of the year 60-61, along with selections by various musical groups.

You will be hearing a great deal about the society throughout the school year.

Demonstration debates will be conducted for the student body at FHC and the high schools in the area. All wishing to participate still have opportunity to join the society, and they are cordially invited to the society's next meeting.

We wonder how Ragene Coulrey liked his three "big sisters" and the roommate assigned him in Hall-Roland Hall.

Bible classes must be getting rough. Mr. Hicks has Gann-Greene at 12:40 every day.

There are only six returning members, but they are full of enthusiasm and promise to be the nucleus of one of the most outstanding clubs on our campus.

PILOTS FOR THE SIXTIES

Class meetings were called September 23 to select students for leadership during the coming year.

In the third year class, Dowell Flatt, last year's sophomore salutatorian, was elected president. Dowell is a capable student leader and is now serving as Phi Kappa president.

Jim Grotts was elected vice-president. At graduation, Jim received a scholarship for his outstanding work in Bible. Serving as president of the Library Club last year, he led a drive to increase the number of books in our library.

In the Sophomore class, Charles White was elected as president. Charles was the highest ranking freshman in his class last year and received the D. E. Mitchell Freshman Honor Scholarship for this year.

Ted Moody was elected Vice-president. Ted was active in school events last year.

Norma Jean Harper was elected secretary. She is a member of the chorus, sextet, and is the Girls' Religious Training Class President.

The Freshman Class elected Tom Heinzelman president. Tom was an active class officer and student council member in high school. Milton Sewell was elected vice-president and Martha Moore, secretary. Both these have given their fellow students the impression that they will be good leaders.

farther—they just burn easier.)

The usual outstanding leadership of the Brumleys ignobly bit the dust in the face of such cotton-picking demons as Judy Mathis and John Wade Perry. To keep Judy, whose cotton-picking equals her curve-wrecking, in her place, Barbara Tuck and Carole Broderick combined their talents and by diligent effort equalled Judy's poundage. A potential for outstanding achievement was Wayne-ex-plumber Kilpatrick. After all, not many pickers can spend half their time asleep under the old wagon and still rank in third place. Academy kids Johnny Carter and Jane Eubanks did their part too, but then they come from a part of Arkansas where kids learn to crawl and pick at the same time.

West Tennessee's Frances Head, Betty Allison, Annette Richardson, Susanne Polk, Carolyn Bain, Carolyn Keith and Bobbie Butler upheld the fair names of Jackson, Milan, Ramer, Oak Ridge and vicinity, but we won't say exactly how high.

Nancy Strasser insisted on some West Virginia help, but he seemed a bit distracted. Claude Palmer admitted he'd never found any exercise in South St.

Little Whirls From Big Wheels

The aspiration of this paper is to give credit to whom credit is due, honor to whom honor is due, and recognition to whom recognition is due.

Each year many receive such honor, credit, and recognition; yet, many who have the same ideals, the same goals, and the same experiences, but lower grades, receive no recognition. Our purpose is not to deride those who make the Dean's List, but to provide an asylum for those who are not fortunate enough to have the time to spend on studying.

It is for these sound reasons that the Janitor's List came into existence for the sake of the frustrated. It became official last year when the first grades were sent home to the parents. However, to prove once again that the tone is truly set, some hard working campusology majors have already made it this year.

Among those fortunates are Donna Brackeen and Joe Brooks, Joyce Hensley and Jimmy White, Jane Roberts and Roger Fisher, Dowell Flatt and Della Maltby, and Jewell Goodman.

Then there are those on our list who are running for preachers: Gloria Wright, Ann Belonie, and Jewel Goodman.

Last on the list (but not least,

Second Year Lions

Preview Of The Lions

Back for the second year with the Freed-Hardeman Lions are Randall Myers, Larry Watson, and Sonny Santucci. The Lions are fortunate in having these three "hustlers" back for a second season.

Larry Watson played ball for Parsons High School, averaging 20 points per game. Larry is majoring in P. E., hoping some day to coach his own team.

Sonny Santucci played for Leland High School in Leland, Mississippi. He served two years in the Army. Santucci too, is majoring in P. E.

Randall Myers played basketball for the Bledsoe County Indians of Pikeville, Tenn. His average in high school basketball was 16 points per game. He is a P. E. major and is now serving as president of the P.E.M.M. Club. He was a member of the FHC volleyball and track team last year. Besides basketball, Randall enjoys football, track, baseball, softball, and volleyball. He wants to be a basketball and football coach.

of course) are those willing to settle for just a man! Gloria Pendergrass, Sue Gibbons, and Jewel Goodman.

On Monday, September 19, Coach R. W. Stewart called the first meeting of the basketball squad of the 1960-61 season.

There are four veteran players from last year's squad—Larry Watson of Parsons, Tennessee; Sonny Santucci of Leland, Mississippi; Bobby Boone of Bragg City, Missouri; and Randall Myers of Pikeville, Tennessee.

Some of the outstanding prospects as freshmen are: Bennie Horton of Ramer, Tennessee; Sam Miller of South Fulton, Tennessee; Gene DePriest of Linden, Tennessee; Wilton Martin of Obion, Tennessee; Jimmy McKeel of Rector, Arkansas; Walt VanBlair of Bragg City, Missouri and Frank Houser also of Bragg City. The manager for this season is O'Neil Warren.

The ball team has been practicing long and hard and is looking forward to a successful season. Let us not forget our team—support the Lions!!

Go Lions Go!!

Enthusiasm filled the gym as twenty excited girls competed for a position on the six-girl cheerleader squad. The student council president, paper editor, annual editor, returning cheerleader, and Ben Zickefoose formed the judging committee.

The girls were graded on poise, pep, personality, voice, co-ordination and scholarship. In the final analysis the winners were the following: Kay Timberlake from Jackson, Tennessee; Kay Jones from Flint, Michigan; Annette Clegg from Long Beach, Mississippi; Judy Epperson from Haleyville, Alabama; Emily Mitche from Jackson, Tennessee and Joyce Hensley from Detroit, Michigan, as alternate. These girls along with Carolyn Totty, our head cheerleader from Henderson, Tennessee, attended a cheerleader school at UTMB September 27.

Cotton Pickers On The Loose

After Saturday's successful cotton-patch invasion, a score of S.N.E.A.'ers and their cohorts have become known as the "two-bale-a-day-ers". Although tabulation of the casualties is as yet incomplete, considerable brilliance in action was noted. For example, early in the day, Donald Givens, an ex-corn-patch boy from Hickman County, distinguished himself with the brilliant deduction that this was doubtless the type of thing that inspired some smart chap to invent a mechanical picker. Later in the day, Donald, along with Joe Williams, Walt Van Blair, Roger Coffman and others, were outstanding for brightly burned necks. (It's not at all that Linda Thornton's ears stick out
